

Great Smoky Mts. Bible Conference In Bryson City

The first conference of the Great Smoky Mountains Bible Conferences, the first of which will be held through June 16, at Bryson City, opened on last Sunday, with Rev. W. Herbert Brown, pastor of the Bryson City Baptist church serving as director of the conferences.

With speakers engaged months ahead, advertisements placed in Christian journals of over 150,000 circulation and several hundred letters and folders mailed to a select list of people in Maryland, North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Tennessee, the preparations were completed some weeks ago.

To solve the anticipated problem of scarce living quarters, Mr. Brown plans to use—in addition to all available space in local hotels and tourist courts, private homes all up the creeks and coves to lodge guests for bed and breakfast. They will eat other meals at cafes. He is also suggesting that camp sites may be secured on nearby Deep Creek picnic and camp grounds.

George A. Miles, president of the Washington (D. C.) Bible Institute, will be the guest speaker for the first conference June 9-16. He will emphasize personal evangelism and the great fundamentals believed by all evangelicals.

William R. Newell, of DeLand, Florida, will highlight the second conference July 14-21. Mr. Newell began his ministry with Dwight L. Moody and has since taught and preached around the world. He is author of many books on the Bible, and his exposition of Romans is said to be the best by any American writer.

The third conference August 11-18 will feature G. S. Field, secretary of the Children's Bible Mission. He expects to show the typical meaning of the Old Testament Tabernacle, using charts, and to emphasize Scripture memory work by children.

James T. (Jimmy) Johnson is booked for the fourth conference September 8-15. He is founder of "Your Daily Devotional Program" over WPTF, Raleigh, and widely known for fearless preaching of the great gospel truths. He also directs King's Mountain Camp conference.

Mr. Brown will lead the prayer and discussion periods on how to have power for spiritual awakening. All sessions of the conferences will be held in the Swain County Courthouse—neutral ground. The motto of the conference is "God's Christ Magnified."

60,000 Aliens Slip Over U. S. Borders In 1946

WASHINGTON — The Immigration Service has informed Attorney General Tom Clark that an estimated 60,000 aliens have illegally slipped into the United States this year, a high immigration official disclosed recently.

The border patrol arrested 30,000 aliens who had illegally crossed the Mexican border during January, February and March of this year, the official, who cannot be identified, told a reporter. He added:

"The number of persons gaining illegal entry in addition to those apprehended is variously estimated up to the number caught. From March to the present, the number of apprehensions held up to the figures for the first three months of the year, although no specific figures are available."

In addition to unlawful entries on the Mexican border, an undetermined number of aliens illegally crossed the Canadian boundary, the official said.

During 1945, he said, 67,584 aliens illegally crossed the Canadian and Mexican borders. From 80 to 85 per cent were Mexicans.

"The press of aliens to enter illegally to take advantage of high wartime wage levels has not abated," this official said. "The border patrol just isn't big enough to stop all of them."

"In order to better cope with the problem, we have shifted details of patrolmen from other parts of the country to the southern international border."

The official noted that "many farmers and ranchers are willing to employ alien laborers who have entered the country unlawfully. Some order the border patrol from their property when our men try to check up on their labor force."

Public To Enter Stratovision Tests

BALTIMORE, Md. — First public participation tests of pictures and programs from the air by Stratovision, a system of television and FM radio, will be held within a few weeks.

The Westinghouse Electric Corporation disclosed this stage of the Stratovision experiment as it announced recently the second of two trial transmission flights between here and Detroit. The flight tests are being operated by the Glenn L. Martin Company which is producing the aircraft portion of the Stratovision system.

The Martin aircraft, which took off this morning from the Martin airport, carried aboard it a transmitter radiocasting with FM on a frequency of 107.5 megacycles. Frequent voice announcements over the channel were made though no programs were transmitted. The return flight, from Romulus Field, Detroit, was scheduled to leave at 10:20 p. m. for the first prolonged night trial of the air-borne transmission system.

Nearly All of London Statues Returned From Hiding Places

Nearly all of London's statues are mounted on their pedestals. It is hoped all will be back from their wartime sojourn in Hertfordshire by Victory Day—June 8—the day when London is preparing to receive the largest rush of visitors from the provinces since the pre-war invasions for the Jubilee and the Coronation.

You can judge the backwardness of any region by the number who prefer government checks to jobs.

Lack of Food Cancels Traditional Banquet

LONDON—There is not enough food in Britain now to permit the revival of one of this country's traditional royal banquets, the Waterloo Banquet, which this year would have marked the 131st anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo.
