Dr. Asirvatham said: "The Christian task began in India long years ago is bearing abundant fruit today. So far as numbers go, we have a great deal for which we can be thankful to God. But numbers are not everything. The quality of Christian life is far more important than numbers."

"A great many have turned to Christ and his Kingdom from the ranks of the depressed classes. This has meant far-reaching social, economic, educational and religious changes. In every walk of the material life in India, education, material, social and economic, Christian workers have been in the vanguard of progress, although leadership is passing into other hands today. Christians still have the supreme task of interpreting Christ and of relating his teaching and spirit to every aspect of life in India."

"Among the high caste and educated people of India, the number of conversions in recent times has not been high. For in dealing with a primitive faith, but with a highly developed religion which has reached great spiritual eminence. Nevertheless, it lacks the strength and virility of Christianity and its social passion. It is encouraging to find that more and more educated Hindus are accepting and adopting Christian standards of life and conduct. The permeating process of Christianity is certainly at work in India."

"One of the greatest hindrances to the progress of Christianity in non-Christian lands like India is the un-Christian and sub-Christian conduct of Christian nations as regards war, the economic exploitation and political domination of backward people, interracial relationships and relations between the sexes."

"If the Christian nations of the world do not set their own house in order in these matters, Christianity is bound to become a tribal affair if not a complete mockery. A Christianity devoid of a deep conviction of sin and a passion for freedom, brotherhood and justice in actual practice does not deserve the gift of immortality."

LAKE JUNALUSKA—Observed with a brilliant and colorful program the coronation of Miss Virginia Rippe, of Nashville, Tenn., as Queen of Junaluska, was witnessed by a capacity crowd in the Lake Junaluska Assembly auditorium Saturday evening, July 20.

For the occasion the large auditorium platform was elaborately decorated to simulate a royal court, the Queen's throne centering the scene. A program of music, folk dances, skits and stunts was carried out under the direction of E. R. Hodel, of Lakeland, Fla., who served as master of ceremonies.

Mr. Allison, who formerly had charge of Haywood county, will still supervise the Murphy, Sylva, and Hendersonville offices. His letter to members of the Waynesville Area Price Control Board is quoted as follows:

"The Raleigh District Office has for some time been under question by the Region Office for the retention of the large number of boards which we have had in this district. Due to the consolidation of the program and reduction in personnel which is being required, it is with regret that the Waynesville Area Price Control Board will be closed July 31, 1946, and the territory which it is now serving will be placed under the jurisdiction of the Asheville Area Price Control Board.

"Please allow me to express the appreciation of the District Regional and National Offices, as well as my own, for the cooperation and service which you have given in the aid to control prices in the area which you have served. Now during this questionable period as to the continuation of the program, I am sure that each of us is able to realize more fully than before, the aid which we have rendered toward the prevention of the rise in the cost of living for the buying public."

Band Candidates Begin Instruction Monday At Church

Twenty-five members of the High School Band began summer instruction under the direction, Charles Isley, at the Presbyterian church on Monday morning, and other candidates are joining the group daily.

His present plans are to have lessons from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday until school begins. Mr. Isley will give private lessons as well to band candidates that find it not convenient to join the groups, and requests that other musicians who desire this special instruction contact either him or Miss Moody at the Board of Education office in the court house.

Mr. Isley also requests that players who need new instruments place orders for them prior to the opening of school. The lessons for High School Band members is free of charge, the cost being borne by the Board of Education. The director is looking forward to having one of the best bands ever at the High School, due to the interest in getting organized and in practice during the summer weeks.

of the Soco Gap highway on the property of Solicitor John Queen, was made about three weeks ago when Captain Farmer, accompanied by Sgt. W. N. Nail and Radio Eng. Howell McKinney of the Swannanoa station inspected the location. Patrolman O. H. Roberts and John Queen, Jr., took the party to the mountain peak for the inspection. A mobile radio unit was tested, and reception was found to be very good.

Right-of-way is to be granted on enough property to erect the radio tower, and presumably a small building to be used as an office by the operator. The peak is being listed by the Highway Patrol as Queens Mountains, although there has been no official name used in the past and some local residents knew it as Grassy Knob.

Mrs. Margie Blalock, formerly of Waynesville, who now resides in Orlando, Fla., has arrived and will occupy her cottage near the Hotel LeFame for the remainder of the season. Mrs. Blalock is the former Mrs. Margie Ferguson and the widow of the late Will Blalock.
