

Canton Vocational Training Ranks Tops Among Schools

Credited with having the best functioning program in vocational shop training in North Carolina, Canton high school vocational students are making every effort to maintain this record through efficiency, thoroughness and working safely from day to day, according to officials of the city school system.

That Canton high vocational students are taught safety "from the ground up," is revealed in the fact that no lost time injuries have occurred within this department since shop training activities were introduced here six months ago—and very few minor injuries have been recorded during this period.

Bolen Instructor
Herman Bolen, who served many years as machinist for the Canton division of the Champion Paper and Fibre company, is in charge of the fully equipped machine shop. Bolen also served during World War II as a member of the navy Seabees as a chief petty officer.

B. D. (Dock) Wilson, with a background of many years' experience in welding, supervises welding and forge vocational training. Electric and acetylene welding and forge work feature activities in this department.

Machine shop training includes lathe work, bench work, shaper operations and milling machine practice.

Blue Print Reading
A special class is taught for the benefit of the vocational students in blue print reading each Thursday by Fred Maiwurm, connected with the training staff of the Canton division of the Champion Paper and Fibre company.

In the welding and forge classes the students are building heating stones, funnels, steel chain blocks, hammers and many other items of metal and iron which they use in carrying out their daily class work.

Both instructors—Bolen and Wilson—are unanimous in their praise for the interest displayed by vocational students. They seldom, if ever, "cut" any classes, and are showing unusual concern over their general class work.

The students are believers in good housekeeping which goes hand-in-hand with safety—the kind of safety-mindedness that keeps them well and physically fit for their daily classes, their instructors say.

Library Notes

MARGARET JOHNSTON
County Librarian

New Registration
Have you re-registered yet? Naturally we want our Library to be up-to-date and we want to have as many active borrowers as possible. If you have not registered since June, 1945, then we can't consider you an active member of the Library any longer. Please come in as soon as possible and register. We need your name, mailing address and, if a child, age and signature of one parent. The service of Haywood county and Waynesville is free to anyone living, owning property or working in Haywood county. It can be an educational or recreational force for you and your family. Join the many borrowers who put Library on their list each time they come to town. The service is yours—why not see what it has to offer you.

Readers
We appreciate the many people who tell us that they read our Library Column, for it is our only way of keeping you informed of our growth, our needs, and our services to you. Even people from out of town have come in to tell us that they keep up through The Mountaineer. We need your suggestions, so if there is something you want to know about the library, just drop the hint and we'll tell you.

THIS ONE IS OBVIOUS
A tramp knocked on the door of an English inn named "George and the Dragon."
"Can you spare a poor man a bite to eat?" he asked the landlady.
"No!" she shouted, and slammed the door.
After a few minutes he knocked again, and when the landlady reappeared he said, "Now could I have a few words with George?"

TURKEYS
Reports from all over the United States indicate that more than 41,015,000 turkeys will be marketed during the Thanksgiving-Christmas season, the second largest turkey crop on record, nine per cent under last year's record high and 27 per cent above the 1938-1942 average.

PIGS
In order to increase supplies of pork for the fall and winter of 1947-48, the Department of Agriculture has asked farmers to produce a 1947 spring crop of 58,000,000 head, 5,600,000 more than this year's spring crop.

The TOGGERY

W. HUGH MASSIE, Owner

It's not that we don't love our work!

WE DO LOVE our work—but these days, we almost dread leaving home and going to our showroom.

So many people want new Packards, and there are so few coming through!
But you can't build cars without materials!
The factory is straining every effort to get more parts and material so production can be increased.

We're doing our best!
Some cars have been shipped with wooden bumpers, some without window regulator handles. This costs the factory a lot of money, for it means that replacements must be shipped and installed later.

Under such difficulties, it's a wonder the folks at the factory have done as well as they have. This year, compared to the same period of 1941, Packard has built a higher percentage of cars than the industry as a whole.

We don't dare predict!
Our customers have been so patient that we'd like to sound some optimistic note.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

But word from Detroit says that parts and materials are still scarce. Steel continues to be limited. Shortages of lead, copper and other materials are looming up.

Scrap iron has been so scarce that Packard started the ball rolling on a nation-wide collection drive!

Take care of your present car!
Until you're sure of getting a new one, give your present car the best of care.

Lots of cars are running better and lasting longer because our trained mechanics have serviced them right. Give us a chance to catch those little troubles before they grow up into big ones.

Bring your car in any time. We're short on new cars, but we're long on helpful, car-saving service.
