

Princess Sought

AGYPSY fortune, estimated at $2500, was reported to have vanished with Princess Patricia Tan, Philadelphia, Pa., and George Evans, a tribal king and father of 6 children. Eli Evano, another Romany king, and grandfather of the missing girl, has asked police to find the pair — and the gems and money. (International)

Farm Questions and Answers

QUESTION: When should we try to market our turkeys? ANSWER: Now that the supply of meat is short, C. F. Parrish of State College, in charge of Extension Poultry, says that turkey growers should make every effort to process and sell all turkeys that are now ready for market. He thinks that the price will probably be better now than later, when the supply of meat is more plentiful.

QUESTION: What about whole milk sales in future years? ANSWER: John Arey of State College, in charge of Extension Dairying, says that we are not beginning to supply the actual milk needs in the cities and towns and on the farms. He believes that many people are just beginning to drink milk and that the demand will increase. He points to some interesting figures presented by the 1945 U. S. Census. Milk production has increased about 70 percent in North Carolina during the last 25 years and yet sales of whole milk have gone up 700 percent of that sold in 1920. Surveys show that diets can be greatly improved through a wider use of milk and its products.

QUESTION: Will cyanamid control both diseases and weeds on tobacco plant beds? ANSWER: Cyanamid alone is used for weed control but the State College Extension Service recommends a mixture of uramon and cyanamid for control of both diseases and weeds in permanent plant bed sites. If you are interested in full information, write the Agricultural Editor, State College, Raleigh, for a free copy of Folder 70. Either one of these jobs must be carefully done to obtain the best results. For example, if live weed seeds are brought up to the soil surface in applying the fertilizer and seeding, you may have a greater weed growth than normal.

QUESTION: What is a good recipe for making sausage? ANSWER: Dr. Dan Brady, in charge of meats research at State College, gives this recipe: 1 pound of table salt, 2 1/2 ounces of finely ground black pepper, and 2 ounces of sage for 50 pounds of pork, three-fourths lean and one-fourth fat. Mix the materials thoroughly and then spread evenly over the meat. Stir the meat well before chopping. Another popular North Carolina recipe includes red pepper. For 50 pounds of trimmings, use 1 pound of salt, 1 1/2 ounces of ground sage, 1 1/2 ounces of black pepper, and 1 1/2 ounces of red hot pepper.

house fabric into place until the fullness disappears. Then press the entire leg of the trousers until almost dry. Leave the trouser leg in position on the board for a few minutes until it is completely dry. Never press wool until "bone dry" because this makes the fabric stiff and harsh. There is plenty of room for saving and better nutrition in the foods that come into the kitchen, if they are properly prepared. Food values can be almost completely lost in cooking. For example paring away one-tenth to one-quarter of the potato results in physical loss, but in addition iron and vitamin C in the potato are dissipated by not cooking it with the jacket on.

SHORTAGES KEEP HIM HOMELESS

UNABLE TO BUY A HOME, Norman Henshall, a war veteran of Queens, L. I., N. Y., determined to build his own. With the help of Legionnaires and neighbors he was coming along fine when shortages began developing, stopping construction. Top, Henshall's father paints a window sill, while Mrs. Henshall lends her husband a hand in setting in a window frame. Bottom, the Henshall family glomously study blueprints of their half-finished home. He can't get plumbing equipment, shingles or asbestos siding. At present, he's staying with his in-laws. alties of this state for the larger number of convictions. The more stringent penalties of New Jersey and other Eastern states tend to reduce the number of violations, Ward said.

The New Jersey statute on drunken driving is one of the toughest in the country in Ward's opinion. It requires for first offenders a mandatory minimum fine of $200 or thirty-day prison sentence, plus a two-year revocation of the license of the driver. For second offenders, there is a nine day-day prison sentence and permanent revocation of the license.

In North Carolina the first offense is punishable with a prison sentence of not less than thirty days or more than one year, or by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $1,000 or by both fine and imprisonment. The second offenders can be imprisoned for not more than two years, or fines of not more than $1,000, or both fine and imprisonment.

Revocation of the license of a driver in North Carolina is automatic suspension for 12 months, with each conviction. Ward said that the state, with no permanent revocation of licenses, had many instances of drunken drivers being convicted before the courts as many as six and eight times.

Revoked For Life Ward stressed the fact that under New Jersey law a second offense requires a mandatory revocation for life. "The officials of this state often have told me that they 'play for keeps' when it comes to drunken driving," Ward said. "I am going to ask the 1947 legislature to put teeth into our laws on drunken driving," Ward said. "Then — and only then — will we be

Sept. Drunken Driving Cases Highest Ever

RALEIGH — During September the State of North Carolina had 644 convictions for drunken driving, resulting in the revocation or suspension of licenses, T. Boddie Ward, state motor vehicles commissioner, said.

"This disgraceful report is not only the worst monthly figure ever reported in North Carolina, but the month alone is worse than New Jersey's total of 644 revocations for all of last year," Ward said. "The first nine months of this year, Ward said, found the State of North Carolina already setting an all time record for convictions of drunken driving with a total of 4,214. It blamed the more lenient pen-able to enforce our laws, provided the judges will co-operate.

"The weakness in our state legal setup is that a judge still could amend the warrant to a minor offense. There are many counties in North Carolina where 'professional' jurors hang around courts, ready to serve on cases where the charges have been amended. They make it practically impossible to obtain a conviction for drunken driving.

"Of course we can't get anywhere by merely changing of the laws. We must have active public support to see that the laws are carried out. We must not have mere public acceptance of good laws, but we must have public support."

Ward said there is a "ceiling but no floor to the fines for a drunken driver in North Carolina. Some things can be done about drunken driving and speeding, even if the laws are greatly strengthened."

NEW 1922 MODEL

PUEBLO, Col. — Twenty-four years ago, H. L. Guire purchased an automobile, drove it only a few months and then put it under canvas in a garage. Robert Disbrow heard about the car a few months ago and, after much persuasion, bought it for $125. The bright and shiny 1922 model had only 4,488 miles on its speedometer and, not only that, but its side-curtains had never been unwrapped.

IS YOUR LIVER CRYING FOR HELP

because of constipation or faulty digestion? If you feel bilious, sour, bloated with gas, headachy, blue, grouchy, you may be putting too big a burden on your liver. Retained undigested food becomes putrefactive, causes toxins, which overload the liver, keeping it from working properly. Then is the time to relieve your tired liver by letting Calotabs help nature sweep the putrefactive and partially digested matter from your stomach and intestines. Nothing acts just like good old Calotabs. Use as directed. 10c and 25c at your druggists.

Neglect Them! The kidneys to do a lot of work in the body. Their task is to keep the blood free of an excess of waste. The act of living—life—produces waste. Waste products must be removed from the body. If the kidneys fail to function as they should, there is retention of waste in the body. This may cause body-wide diseases, such as rheumatism, neuritis, attacks of dizziness, night sweats, puffiness of the face, nervousness, all of which are signs of kidney trouble.
