hybrid seed is seen for the future.

Barley—Growth of this crop is increasing, primarily as a feed for livestock.

Ladino Clover—"Rapidly becoming the foundation of an extensive grassland agriculture in this county." A demonstration on the Osborne Farm brought their "best pasture ever."

Alfalfa—Becoming the main hay crop, with 40 new growers in 1946.

Pastures—The important basis of the livestock industry. Through the AAA and TVA Demonstration Programs it has been possible to improve pastures greatly with the use of lime, 500 farmers using 5,000 tons and phosphate 1,200 farms using 2,500,000 pounds during the past year.

Tobacco—Haywood's main cash crop. Grading was given special attention this year in preparing the Burley for market. Ten demonstrations in the use of chemicals in tobacco beds also brought good results.

Apples—Haywood growers produced 200,000 bushels, 65 per cent of a full crop cut short due to a spring freeze, getting an income of 1-2 million dollars. The orchard men started plans for a marketing cooperative as a means to raise the Income of 'the group as a whole.

Livestock—Dairying had a big spurt of growth, with 48 purebred Guernseys added to the county's herds during June. Six million pounds of milk was produced.

Haywood, as the leading N. C. county in beef production, now is planning its future with the Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus and Short-horn. Breeders purchased 23 registered bulls and 114 registered females during the year.

Sheep production has fallen off because roving bands of dogs have made so many kills in sheep herds during the past. A cooperative lamb pool was held during the summer, however, which resulted in favorable prices to growers.

Workstock was given treatment in a well-attended series of clinics held by veterinarians.

All farm organizations were active and supported such endeavors as farm tours, the Essex Stock and Home Arts Show and Achievement Day. Three new 2-H clubs were organized and members completed 144 individual projects during the year.
