PITTSBURG-The recent acquisition of Hank Greenberg had nothing to do with it, but Forbes Field, home of the Pirates, is having its face lifted in line with the new owners' policy to give Pittsburgh fans mplete new deal.

Of the $750,000 set aside for new players and an improved ball park, close to $250,000 is being spent on Forbes Field. Improvements include 1,300 new boxes, additional aisle space in front of the reserved seals made by eliminating one row, new dugouts and clubhouses for both the home and visiting teams, new press and radio boxes and improved approaches to the apperstands-plus plenty of paint.

In addition, the space between home plate and the backstop is being reduced from 110 feet to 83 feet, six inches. Old timers say that many a good catcher has been ruined chasing foul flies in that "vast'

Gives Waynesville Quint 43-42 Edge Girls Down Sylva Handily In Opening Game By 42-21 Score Tuesday Tonight the W.T.H.S. teams take on Canton high school in the Black

Bear lair. This return match will find the Canton girls slight favorites, with a tight game anticipated as the program gets under way at 7:30 p.m., while the Mountaineers also are looking for a closer tilt than their previous 50-24 win over their old rivals

Sylva high school's long-shot artists grabbed an early lead over Mountaineer basket quintet here Tuesday night that called on the best Waynesville could offer, but with Robinson. Powers and Shook coming through in the final punch the locals won 43-42 in an overtime period to defeat the Jackson county feam the second time this year

Scates and McCracken were at their best as the local girls warmed up after the opening period and marked up a 42-21 victory.
