Suggestions That Make Some Phases Of Housework Much Easier To Do

By VERA STATON, Assistant State Agent

To make work easier on your washing and ironing days, try using two ironing board covers alternately. Use one for dark and colored clothing and the other for white things. That way you'll be taking no chances of colored stains on freshly washed white blouses or curtains.

Use a whisk broom, kept for the purpose, and hot water to sprinkle the clothes. They will be more evenly dampened than when sprinkled by hand.

When you wash your rag rugs, use a light starch. Wash them in rich, warm suds. After a thorough rinsing, dip the rugs into a light starch solution. The starch will give the rugs more body and help to keep them flat on the floor.

A soak in time saves on the dish-washing line, say home management specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Many dishes and pans used in getting meals will wash more quickly and easily if they are filled with water immediately after using and allow to soak until washed. The exception is an iron utensil which may rust if left soaking long.

A cold-water soak is recommended for loosening starchy foods, like dough or cereal, and also for eggs and milk. Avoid hot water because it makes such foods "cook on" and become more difficult to remove. On the other hand, a hot-water soak is best for utensils which have held sugary foods like syrup or icing because sugar dissolves faster in hot water. Greasy, utensils should have all possible grease removed—to save for cooking and then should be wiped out with paper and allowed to soak in hot water containing a little baking soda.

A time-saving way to keep silverware bright is to have a little aluminum pan filled with hot soda water near the dish-
