Electronic Egg Grader

An electronic device, said to hold promise of revolutionizing the grading of eggs, has been developed at the Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station. Prof. Alexis L. Romanoff, pictured above, with the device he created, says it is far more accurate than usual methods. The egg is placed in a field of radio frequency, it absorbs the electric power and the result shows up on a meter. The machine's only drawback, Prof. Romanoff reveals, is that it does not indicate blood spots if present, making one candling necessary.

Smokestacks Topped On Factory By Wind

MARION, S. C.—The American Wood Products company here, makers of wire-bound wooden boxes, has been forced to cease production after the heavy wind storm which swept through Marion last week and toppled two 100-foot steel smokestacks down upon the roof of the plant.

The stacks fell when steel guy wires broke from the strain of the strong wind. The heavy metal crashed through the roof of the main section of the plant, tore through and demolished the roof of the power plant.

40-Hour Bill For State Group Killed

RALEIGH—(P)—A bill which would limit State employees, except those working in schools or institutions, to a five-day, 40-hour work week, was killed by the House after brief debate. The debate over the 40-hour week for State employees provoked little comment. Most of the members were of the opinion that such a schedule would not promote greater efficiency.

SUGGESTION FOR A CLUB

If you are interested in doing something for the boys and girls, why not sponsor a "Hobby Show"? Just ask us and we can tell you the hobbies of a lot of local people. The interest and enthusiasm this past week in our "Name Your Hobby" exhibit certainly has been revealing to us. We started ours with two ship models made by "Jim" Kilpatrick and "Mo" Kimball, some miniature flowers made by Mrs. Freida Knopf, a Holiday card made by Jack Taylor and a Colonial Bedroom Suite made by Joe Michael Jr. Since then we have been loaned airplane models by Don Fowler, Wilson Elhoff, Dick Boyd, and Donald Corwin. Many other things were offered but our lack of room kept us from taking them.

If your club is interested we'll be glad to help you in sponsoring it.

Miss Elizabeth Huxley, Field Worker for Western North Carolina from The North Carolina Library Commission will spend two weeks here in our library. Miss Huxley is coming to make it possible for Mrs. Atkins and myself to get the remainder of our 1946 vacation and to help us catch up on a lot of technical details which we have been forced to leave undone due to your increased use of the library. You should be very proud of the continued growth in your County Library service and aware of it's needs for more books, sufficient staff and our dream of a "Bookmobile" for Haywood County.

Mystery Light Seen On Deserted Tanker

HONOLULU—(P)—An unexplained light appears nightly aboard the deserted stern section of the tanker Fort Dearborn, which broke in half at sea March 12.

The captain of the Navy tug Lipan, which is towing the section toward Pearl Harbor, radioed the Hawaiian Sea Frontier.

"Suggest hulk be searched on arrival as light observed every night which appears to be lantern. There is no one aboard to my knowledge. Hulk inspected for water tightness and all compartments were dark and all ports closed. Two ports are open this morning."

Twenty-two men were rescued from the stern and 10 from the bow section. Twelve men, all reported to have leaped overboard immediately after the tanker's bow tore off in heavy seas, are missing and presumably drowned.

Bill To Give County Boards Say On Road Matters Is Killed

RALEIGH—(P)—A bill which would provide equity commissioners with authority to tell members of the State Highway commission which secondary roads should be worked in their county, was killed quickly by the House roads committee.

Representative Henry Fisher of Buncombe and 20 co-signers of the bill failed to appear before the committee. There was no discussion.

It is estimated that 60,000 tons of lead will be used in the United States during 1947 to make premium grade gasolines.

Conversion Deadlines On GI Insurance Is Aug.

The veteran who has converted his National Service Life Insurance to a permanent plan, as well as the veteran with the original term NSLI, may continue to reinstate his lapsed policy without taking a physical examination, it was pointed out today by the Asheville Sub-Regional Veterans Administration office. Recent Congressional legislation, VA explained, extended the deadline for such reinstatement by a "comparative health statement" from February 1 to August 1. Some veterans are apparently not aware that the extension applies to converted NSLI policies as well as term insurance.
