ARMY CAN'T GET WET WHEN NAVY IS DRY
 ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The spirit of the thing, the city council clearly implied in taking steps to cancel an Army advantage over the Navy in this town of the U. S. Naval Academy West Point cadets, here on exchange visits with the sister service school, have found local taverns open to them. A privilege long denied the Midshipmen playing no favorites the city fathers ordered preparation of an ordinance prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages to the cadets.

THEY WERE SOAKED ON A FINE DAY
 HAGERSTOWN, Md.—(AP)—A well-dressed stranger rose in the city police court just as four convicted drunks were led to their cells in default of fines.

 and stopped the procession with the announcement: "I am baiting out all the drunks today." Magistrate Harry Snyder beckoned the spectator to his office for an explanation, but later Snyder would give neither the stranger's name or reason. But the man shelled out 40 dollars and 80 cents, walking away with the comment, "I just wanted to help the boys out."

CUSTOMER BUYS WIFE A HARE TONIC
 BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—A customer came into a store here pointed at a window full of rabbits and said "I want to buy them. All of them."
 Clerks dutifully crated the 15 bunnies along with packages of feed but curiosity prevailed and they asked the man what he wanted with so many bunnies.
 "I'm going to take them home and turn them loose in the wife's kitchen," was the unamplified reply.
