As we read the book we things.

"Peace of mind" is described as the gift that God reserves for His special proteges. Talent and beauty He gives to many. Wealth is commonplace. Fame is not rare. But peace of mind-that is His final guerdon of approval, the fondest sign of His love. He bestows it charily. Most men are never blessed with it. Others wait all their lives yes, into advanced age-for this gift to descend upon them". and the extraordinary thing about the book is that it contains sign after sign of the road which leads to peace of mind, but it seems hard for most of us to find the way. Yet we are all hunting directions. From the frustrated young person trying to find what they want of life, to the successful business executive-who wood, Mrs. L. M. Owen Mrs. Grady has gained much, but feels the lack of this great comfort—peace of mind. We found it interesting to think of our friends and wonder think of our friends and wonder the manner of the manne found this gift hurried glance. It is "Peace of Mind", by Joshua Loth Liebman, a Jewish Rabbi, Quoting from his introduction, "It may seem strange for a man to write a book about peace of mind in this strange age people that has known so little peace to engage in such an enter-thought of the last words of King Christian of Denmark, who died week before last at the age of 76, which are said to have been "I am at peace with God and my soul." Surely this remarkable old king must have had peace of mind to have thus expressed himself. The book shows that we can help ourselves find "peace of mind", which is one of the greatest of gifts-and reveals encouraging facts from scientific clinics that man can, wanting and willing to make the effort, change and improve himself. It is the kind of book you would like to keep by your bedside-to pick up for a bit of self analysis, after a hard day of combating forces over which you have no control, but which you must not let get you down. There are two chapters that held especial interest for "Fear wears many masks" and "Grief's slow wisdom". They offer sound philosophy by which to live and find the meaning of

BIG FOUR' MOSCOW ISSUES EXPLAINED BY MARSHALL

IN A FRANK REPORT ON THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE, Secretary of State George C. Marshall outlined the vital issues discussed by the "Big Four". On the positive side, as indicated on the map, the Foreign Ministers agreed to give further study to all Austrian questions, including the determination of German assets in that country. They agreed to study possible limitation of occupation forces in Germany, and to exchange information in all zones. The reparations question proved stubborn, with disagreement also barring the economic and political unity of Germany. There was a three to one split against the incorporation of the Saar into France and a refusal by the Western bloc to approve the new Polish frontier. The conference was credited with at least clearing the air for the forthcoming November parley.
