field during half intermissions at games, for a more spectacular display than is seen at many college games.

During the past year the WTHS musicians have been constantly before the public, taking part in all major community programs. Farm groups are familiar with the band and choruses from two performances at the Livestock Show—one of which was broadcast, at Achievement Day, at eight Farm Planning meetings, and the Farm Water System Display.

The band played at nine of the high school football games, all those here and at Brevard, Canton and Hendersonville. They also furnished music for three of Western Carolina Teachers College football games.

Two patriotic holidays, July 4th and Armistice Day, were other busy days for the musicians; and not to be overlooked were Homecoming, Ferguson Day and Labor Day. They played at all five performances of the Lions Club Minstrel, for the N. C. Press Association, at the First Baptist, First Methodist and Junaluska Methodist churches; at a meeting of the Methodist circles, for the Waynesville Women's Club, and the Schoolmasters Club.

This spring the WTHS musicians participated in the Asheville district contests, and later in the state-wide competition at Greensboro. Three of the individuals were named to the All-State Band, at Winston-Salem and one was selected to play with the All-Southern Orchestra at Birmingham, Ala.

In fact, reports Mr. Isley, they have found it necessary to turn down invitations on some occasions due to such a full schedule.

Among others participating will be: Rev. Paul Townsend, district secretary of missions; Rev. Ralph Taylor, of Canton, secretary of Evangelism; Rev. Cecil Heckard, pastor of Long's Chapel, Lake Junaluska.

W. Q. Grigg, of Sylva, will speak of "Christian Stewardship"; Mrs. J. R. Long, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will report on the work of her group; Dean W. A. Bird, of Cullowhee, will outline the layman's work; Rev. W. J. Honeycutt of Franklin, will present the work of the rural churches.

Among those from the First Methodist church here who will attend the meeting in addition to Rev. Townsend, the pastor are:

Rev. and Mrs. Paul Townsend, T. G. Massie, Mrs. Henry Gaddy, Mrs. J. E. Love, Miss Bessie Boyd, Hugh Massie, M. H. Bowles, Joe Davis, W. A. Bradley, and reserve delegates Henry Gaddy and Mrs. T. G. Massie.
