

Large Attendance Expected At The Annual UDC District Meeting Here

The First District of the United Daughters of the Confederacy of the North Carolina Division will hold their annual meeting here at the First Methodist Church on Saturday, May 17th, according to Mrs. Grover C. Davis, director, who will preside over the meeting.

Chapters in the district expected to send delegations include those from Black Mountain, Brevard, Canton, Bryson City, Dillsboro, Franklin, Hendersonville, Old Fort, and Sylva, in addition to the hostesses from the local Haywood Chapter.

Among the speakers on the program will be Mrs. A. L. Thompson, of Greensboro, president of the North Carolina Division; Mrs. W. J. Johnson, of La Grange, first vice president; Mrs. R. P. Reece, of Winston-Salem, second vice president; Mrs. Preston P. Thomas, of Asheville, treasurer; Miss Janet Brigg, of Oxford, registrar; Mrs. Thomas, who will introduce the state president and Mrs. H. F. Love, of Asheville, who will present the others.

The meeting will open at 10:00 o'clock with the invocation by Rev. Paul Townsend, pastor of the church. Welcome addresses will be made by Mayor J. H. Way, Jr. for the town; Mrs. W. A. Heath, from the local chapter; Mrs. W. F. Swift, DAR Chapter; and Mrs. Hilda Burtin from the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Herbert Church of Franklin will respond.

The program will include a memorial service to the deceased members conducted by Mrs. T. J. Brickett, assisted by Mrs. M. C. Green, accompanist, and Mrs. Charles Burtin, soloist, all of the local chapter. Reports from each chapter will be presented during the morning. Special musical numbers will be given by Miss Elizabeth Elliott, Charles Isley, and Mrs. Cornelia Nixon, under direction of Miss Margaret Stringfield, and Miss Nancy Killian, in charge of music for the meeting.

At noon a luncheon will be served in the banquet hall of the church. Taking part on the program will be the following: Mrs. E. L. McKee who will toast State officers; Mrs. Charles M. Fortune, of Asheville, Veterans of World War I and II; Mrs. T. Lenoir Gwyn, who will give a toast to the Confederate Veterans of the 60's.

Committees serving on the various groups for the meeting include: registration, Mrs. C. F. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Roy Campbell, and Mrs. L. M. Killian; decorations, Mrs. James R. Boyd, Jr., Mrs. E. J. Hyatt and Mrs. O. R. Martin; luncheon, Mrs. Noble Garrett, Mrs. Thad Chafin and Mrs. T. L. Bramlette.

Welcome group, Mrs. L. E. Perry, Miss Margaret Johnston, Mrs. O. H. Shelton, Miss Robina Miller and Mrs. W. F. Swift. Serving as pages will be Jackie Sue Messer, Nancy Jones, Elsie Green, Jean Ann Bradley, and Lena Waldrop of Hendersonville, with Mrs. W. F. Swift as chairman.

The luncheon will be served by the members of the Waynesville chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

On Friday evening a dinner will be given to the state officers at the Baptist Women Give Colorful Mission Program

The Womans Missionary Society of the First Baptist church presented a "Japanese Spring Flower Festival" on Tuesday evening at their regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. W. T. Crawford gave a beautiful devotional from the 67th Psalm, a universal anthem, "O Let the Nations Be Glad and Sing For Joy."

A duet, "O Zion Haste, Thy Mission High Fulfilling," was sung by Miss Marie Strange and Miss Barbara Hale.

Mrs. Albert Bramlett, Miss Marina Phillips and Mrs. Zack Massey, in native kimonos, gave topics under the subject, "Meet the Japanese." Mrs. Joe Liner, wearing a gorgeous ceremonial kimono, concluded the program with a plea from the Japanese Christians to us to be "Brothers and Not Strangers."

The social hall was artistically decorated forming a background for the presentation of the program, a large fully bloomed crabapple tree spotted with colored paper butterflies, was arranged between two huge white candelabra holding lighted tapers. Yellow Japanese lanterns covered the blue lights. Larger butterflies were pinned on the curtains. Fans of varied colors were placed open on the piano. The tea table was covered with handpainted imported silk mats on which set two highly prized Japanese tea sets, lending color to the fan-shaped vase of mountain orchids and sweetpeas in the center.

About fifty members and friends remained for tea in keeping with the program.

TWO-TIMERS

DOUBLE-DUTY COSTUME . . . Morning version, tailored jacket and slim back skirt shown at left. Night story, bare-top short black dinner dress at right. Even the jewels are interchangeable. The diamond butterfly flits from hat to décolletage with the greatest of ease. Massive diamond-studded gold bracelet adds swank.

Neatest trick of the season for the busy gal who must dress in the morning for a day at the office and an evening date is a trim outfit designed by Norman Norell to lead a double life.

In its workaday guise, it consists of an impeccably tailored yellow jacket and slim wool skirt, noticeably longer than last year's hemline. With it is worn a simple hat and some discreet jewelry.

Come nightfall and the demure little outfit undergoes a startling change. Off comes the jacket, away goes the hat, and there is our versatile Miss Two-Timer in bare-top short dinner dress with narrow criss-cross straps. The longer skirt length in the suit version makes possible the quick change to afterdark formality. Norell recommends skirts 14 inches from the floor for the new look.

The idea of jacket over bare-top dress is the simplest solution thus far to the problem of how to dress only once for a day that includes both work and play.

Instructors In Food Handling School Are Honored With Dinner At Lodge

The instructors of the food-handling school here from out-of-town were honored on Monday evening prior to the opening of the school with a dinner at The Lodge, with Robert W. Livingstone, serving as master of ceremonies.

The guests were seated in a long L-shaped table decorated in arrangements of spring flowers, and at intervals were lighted white tapers.

Principal speaker of the evening was Ross Caldwell of the Cherokee Reservation who spoke on the serving of food and the sanitation of kitchens.

Miss Lovell, health educator of the state board of health, located in Asheville, serving the western area, told of the work which a health educator has under her supervision.

Among others who spoke during the evening were Dr. Mary Michal, district health department director; Mr. Smith, manager of the Champion Paper and Fibre company cafeteria; Felix Doggett, sanitarian engineer with the North Carolina state board of health; Miss Hearn, secretary of the state board of health in the Asheville office.

Mr. Livingstone stressed the fact that the public is invited to use the health departments, and that they are ready to serve.

Picnic Bridge To Honor Bride-Elect

Mrs. Harold Massie and Mrs. Leon M. Killian, Jr., will entertain with a picnic luncheon at the home of the former on Saturday as a courtesy to Miss Hilda Way, bride-elect.

The guests will be served luncheon in the outdoors and following will be invited into the living room for contract. Prizes will be given to the winners of high, second high and low scores.

There will be five tables in play. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Covington of Lake Junaluska left Thursday for Ghent, West Va., where the former will be employed by the Kirby Lumber company.
