

Farmers Federation Has Stock Dividend July 1

Directors of the Farmers Federation Cooperative have declared the regular stock, payable July 1 to all stockholders of record June 14, 1947. This will be the twenty-seventh consecutive semi-annual dividend to be paid by the Farmers Federation, and it applies to all common and preferred stock.

There were 19,972 stockholders of record December 31, and according to James G. K. McClure, president, there has been a considerable increase in the number since that time. Business done through the retail stores for the year 1946 was $4,575,364.36. Mr. McClure announced, this does not include the business of the Carolina and Farmers tobacco warehouses, or the other organizations affiliated with the Federation.

The Farmers Federation was organized to provide marketing facilities and services which will develop agricultural production in Western North Carolina. Beginning in a small way, it has developed markets for poultry, eggs, forest products, dairy products, vegetables and handicraft articles.

Mr. McClure added that $3,118,651.51 was paid to farmers in 1946 through the various markets of the Farmers Federation.

During the year 1946 the Farmers Federation hatchery distributed 1,424,125 baby chicks, and to date this year more chicks have been hatched than last year. All these chicks are from flocks which are carefully supervised to eradicate disease and rockers from high-producing strains head the supply flocks, so that the baby chicks inherit high egg production.

There are now 26 warehouses in the Farmers Federation, and four frozen food lockers are being operated in connection with them in Asheville, Hendersonville, Waynesville, and Tryon. These locker

READY FOR THE PAN
DURANGO, Colo.—(AP)—Sam Walford hooked a 17-inch trout that was really ready for the frying pan.

Walford, of Buckeye, Ariz., related that he hooked the fish in Vallecito reservoir, hauled it into his boat and found it already had been cleaned. It apparently had been caught, cleaned and lost by another angler.

Directions Are Given For Tomato Protection

Swine Deaths Now Hit Pocketbook Heavily

The financial loss for every pig that dies this year is seven times greater than it was in 1934, according to Dr. C. D. Grinnell, professor of Veterinary Science at State College.

According to recent findings by the American Foundation for animal health, swine disease control on farms this summer will be more financially important than at any time in the past 20 years. In late spring of 1934, market hogs were averaging around $3 per hundred pounds, while this year they are ranging from $20 to $25 per hundred.

Farmers should take every precaution to keep down any outbreak of diseases among this summer's hogs, Dr. Grinnell said. Some of the ways in which this can be accomplished are: First, see that all spring pigs are vaccinated against cholera. Use fresh, clean pastures as a protective measure against enteritis. Careful control of rations is also a safeguard against this problem.

Newly purchased animals should be isolated from the home herd until the owner is sure they are not disease carriers; however, if sickness does appear, a prompt diagnosis is the first step toward preventing serious losses.

As insurance against losses from brucellosis in the fall pig crop, breeding stock should be blood-tested now, to weed out carriers of this disease.

Late blight, which toil of tomato plants last year and has caused a sharp decline in the yield of such sprays. Compound-A, Yellow or Tri-Basic Copper Sulfate, County Agent reports. Of these, one most likely to be used is Compound-A.

To mix Compound-A use four level water, one level of water, one level of a pesticide, then the full amount of actual material to each gallon of which is then ready.

If the material is a dust mix four level of dust with three level of water and 10 or 15 drops of oil.

When tomato plants are grown, they should be sprayed once a week in the early morning. The spray should be applied to the undersides of leaves and again behind an heavy rain.

Apply dust or spray for a uniform material on all parts. When heavy rains are predicted, repeat the doing a good job the sum of tomatoes for sale and marketing.
