THE REV. DR. J. WALLACE HAMILTON of the Pasadena Com munity church, St. Petersburg, Fla., who will preach from the Lake Junaluska assembly pulpit on Sunday morning and evening, has been acclaimed one of the most remarkable clerical personages in America. Dr. Hamilton himself is unspectacular and his preaching conforms to the standards of the deeply spiritual Christian message But his pastorate, now in its 18th year, is phenomenal. Seven miles from St. Petersburg, it was built in the boom days of Florida and had been practically abandoned until Dr. Hamilton, a member of the Florida Methodist conference, took over. Today, with the addition of demy in London. He an annex and two wings, the church building is inadequate to accommodate the large numbers who attend. Waynesville, Canton And County Boards

To Consider Police

Radio Station

A radio engineer told members of the Waynesville Board of Aldermen this week of the advantages and probable costs to installing a county-wide police radio network, with a transmitting station and two-way contact between police cars in every town and the State Highway Patrol.

The possibility of such a communications set-up has been talked over previously in the sheriff's department at Canton and here and felt as a definite need by all law enforcement officers. Hazelwood also is interested in the radio, and if a station is constructed plans to 300 Industrial get a two-way set for their police.

The engineer announced plans to return for a joint meeting between Men Expected At all groups concerned within the next two or three weeks, indicating he would cheek on the possibility of getting a license from the Federal Communications Commission before that time.

Equipment would be of the Frequency Modulation type, similar to that which the State Highway Patrol is getting. Police broadcasts could not be picked up on commercial radios.

The cost of building a station is estimated at between $4,000 and dustries are expected to attend a telegram received last week by W. $5,000. If adopted, expenses would be shared by the county and towns Safety Council, to begin at 7:30 of Waynesville and Canton

Changes Made By Department In Washington Yesterday Afternoon

Herman Francis, a World War II veteran and employee of the Waynesville Post Office once 1936 has been named assistant profinatter, and J. H. Howell will remain as postmaster of the office here

The reversal of events came yesterday afternoon after the department in Washington returned to grant the reclassification of J. H. Howell to the status of permanent assistant postmaster.

The department ruled against the procedure, according to the information given Rep. Monroe M. Redden, of the 12th district, who gave the facts to The Mountainege by phone.

"The post office department advised me this morning (Thursday) that they had given further consideration to the application and desires of the Waynesville Postmaster J. H. Howell for reclassification for the purpose of becoming permanent assistant postmaster, and have reached the conclusion that Mr. Howell should be retarned as postfaster if an assistant can be found in the office to fill the vacancy which now exists "The department is notifying Mr. Howell to this effect. .

"I feel sure Mr. Howell will be able to find an employee in the office who is thoroughly qualified in fill the position as assistant postmaster.

"I will suggest that the and for be selected from the rank and the of the employees and that a veteran be given preference. Rep. Redden concluded.
