Pastor Denies He Endorsed Sellers Or Their Products

Rev. L. G. Elliott,
Pastor First Baptist Church, Did Not Send Out Salesmen

Rev. L. G. Elliott, pastor of the First Baptist church, denied from the pulpit Sunday and also in a signed statement given this newspaper yesterday that he had never endorsed certain magazine salesmen working in the community.

Rev. Mr. Elliott said: "certain magazine salesmen, alleged to be students for the ministry, are going in the homes of this community and telling the people that I sent them."

"I have never sent a salesman of any kind to the homes of our people, and I do not intend to unless I am convinced that it will be welcomed and appreciated by the people. These young men in our community last week did not come to see me and ask that I endorse them and their work. I have never seen them, but they have deliberately used my name without my knowledge and consent."

Burley Acreage Measuring Almost Ended In County

Measuring of the burley tobacco plantings in Haywood to check for compliance with government allotments is almost completed with only two townships missing for a final report, according to Miss Mary Sue Crocker, clerk at the AAA office.

Of the 1,741 farms listed for checking, approximately 1,600 reports have been turned in. To date 148 farms have been reported planting in excess of their allotments, the majority of which have cut down when notified of this.

The general condition of tobacco is reported by the county agent to be only fair, due to lack of rain in most section of the county. Only in Iron Duff is the crop looking as good as it should, with the plants being small and dry in other sections.

Deer Hunting Will Be Permitted This Season, Regulations Are Stiff

Deer hunting will be allowed for short periods this fall in Western North Carolina, after a two-year closed season, with stiffer than usual regulations announced last Friday by the N. C. wildlife resources following their meeting in Raleigh.

The regulations permit hunting in Haywood, Buncombe, Henderson and Transylvania counties from Nov. 10 through Nov. 29 except an area in Haywood north of U. S. 19-23, an area in Buncombe bounded by highways U. S. 70 and U. S. 25, and an area in Henderson lying east of U. S. 25.

Hunting will be allowed in McDowell north of U. S. 64-70 except in Mt. Mitchell wildlife management area, and in Yancey county except the Mt. Mitchell state park and Mt. Mitchell wildlife management area on Nov. 10, 11, 12, 20, 21 and 22.

One of the new regulations says, in effect, if you can't see the deer's antlers, don't shoot.

Heretofore the rules have provided that only male deer may be (Continued on Page Four)

President Of Rotary International Coming Here For Meeting 22nd No. 1 Rotarian

S. KENDRICK GUERNSEY, president of Rotary International, will attend the weekly meeting of Rotary here at one Friday. This is the first time that an International president has ever attended the Waynesville club.

The Waynesville Rotary club will be host to S. Kendrick Guernsey, president of Rotary International, here at 1 o'clock Friday.

Mr. Guernsey re-arranged his schedule in order to get to Waynesville after appearing as the principal speaker on the annual Florida Day program at the Asheville club on Thursday.

The president of Rotary International is a regular summer visitor to Waynesville, but found the press of business of being president of 600,000 Rotarians scattered over the world would prevent him from spending any time here this summer, other than part of the day Friday.

Mr. Guernsey is executive vice president of the Gulf Insurance company of Jacksonville. He is a native of Orlando and after serving in World War I, was engaged in the real estate business, taking an active part in all civic affairs of the community. He has always been a leader in boys work and at one time was a member of the Florida highway commission.

He is an ardent sportsman, particularly golf, fishing and hunting.
