Miss Ruth Carolyn Burgin Is Married To Henry Grady Clayton

The marriage of Miss Ruth Burgin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Burgin, to Henry Grady Clayton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady Clayton, was solemnized on Saturday evening, September 6, at the First Methodist church. The Rev. Paul Townsend, pastor, performed the service, assisted by the Rev. James Allen Crisp, Jr., of Brevard, cousin of the bride.

The church was arranged with a background of greenery with woodwardia ferns and evergreens. Against these were placed floor vases of white gladiolus. The pews were marked by white gladiolus tied with white satin ribbons.

Prior to the ceremony a program of music was presented by Mrs. Fred Calhoun, organist, and Bronson Matney, soloist. Mr. Matney sang "O, Happy Day," and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, while Mrs. Calhoun played "Liebestraum," by Liszt, "To A Wild Rose," by McDowell, and "O Perfect Love" by Barnby was played during the ceremony.

The traditional marches of Mendelssohn and Lohengrin were used for the professional and recessional.

Carries Prayer Book

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta, with a fitted bodice, shirred in front and a soft net yoke finished at the neckline with lace, and the long sleeves which were also edged in lace were trimmed to the elbows with self covered buttons. The tiny buttons were used on the back of the bodice. The skirt which fell in full lines from the bodice and ended in a long train with the front line hem caught by a bow over a lace insert. Her finger tip veil was of French illusion. She carried a white prayer book to which was attached a white orchid showered with single tuberose.

Mrs. Thomas Benjamin Noland, of Altavista, Va., aunt of the bride, was matron of honor and she wore a gown of taffeta in a dusty pink shade, fashioned with a bertha made of folds of the same material, with a fitted bodice and a full gathered skirt. She wore mitts of the same duty pink taffeta and in her hair wore a maline head band, which was trimmed with fresh asters and rosebuds. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of asters and roses in pastel shades showered with gypsophilla.

Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Ann Boyd of Waynesville, cousin of the bridegroom and Miss Peggy Sue Burgin, cousin of the bride. They wore gowns of hyacinth blue taffeta, fashioned on similar lines as that of the matron of honor, and carried bouquets of pastel flowers in the same varieties and shades. They also wore matching mitts and bead bands of harmonizing maline and fresh flowers.

Mr. Clayton had as his best man his father, Henry Grady Clayton, of Waynesville, and ushers were William Smith, Jr., of Riverdale, Ga., cousin of the bridegroom, Joseph Turner of Waynesville, Thomas Benjamin Noland, of Altavista, Va., uncle of the bride, and Erwin M. Burgin of Waynesville, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Burgin, mother of the bride, wore a gown of black lace and crepe with a corsage of gardenias, and Mrs. Clayton, mother of the bridegroom, wore blue lace with a corsage of gardenias.

Following the wedding the parents of the bride entertained with a reception at The Lodge, which was attended by approximately one hundred and fifty guests. The rooms were decorated with arrangements of summer flowers in a variety of colors.

The hosts, with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton, parents of the bridegroom and members of the bridal party composed the receiving line. Among those assisting in receiving were Mrs. Thad O. Crafin, Mrs. L. E. Perry, Mrs. Charles Fielder, Mrs. W. B. Hawkins, Miss Margaret Burgin, Miss Mamie Clayton, Mrs. Johnny Ferguson and Mrs. Joe Webster.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom flanked by white tapers in crystal holders and white flowers further adorned the table.

Will Reside in Waynesville Following the reception the couple left by motor for an unannounced destination. For traveling the bride wore a wool suit of powder blue with brown accessories and her orchid corsage detached from her prayer book. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Waynesville.

These Animals Can Be Tricky

EL PASO, III. (AP) — "Rusty," trained cat of Guy Fletcher, has more tricks up his whiskers than he has lives.

Rusty's repertoire includes walking on two legs, jumping through a tennis racket, and jumping five feet from a chair into a paper sack.

The 11 months old feline isn't the first animal Fletcher has taught stunts. He once had a pig, "Spotty," who could cat-walk and "say his prayers."

Fletcher said Spotty could still jump through a hoop when he weighed 300 pounds.

Pickpocket At Work Breaks Own Heart

ROME — (AP) — When a Milan pickpocket nipped the wallet of a fellow tram passenger the Rome press reported, he set off an explosive line of coincidence which broke up his married life and landed him behind bars.

The first thing to turn up—where the money should have been—was a picture of the pickpocket's wife, tenderly inscribed to the victim of the fleeing.

The pickpocket hailed a cab, overtook the tram and with heaving breast demanded of his unsuspecting prey how he came to have the pickpocket's wife memento, dashed the wallet in the gallant's face and followed with a punch to the nose.

Police separated the two, restored the wallet to its owner and jailed the outraged felon, who was last heard swearing vengeance and divorce.

New Zealand Plans Paper Pulp Mills

AUCKLAND (AP) — New Zealand's government plans to establish state paper and pulp manufacturing works at a cost of $22,680,000.

Another big timber project has been announced by New Zealand Forest Products which said it planned to spend $11,340,000. The company said it would construct a mill to produce 42,000,000 feet of timber a year, waste from the timber mill would feed pulp and paper mills which would be set up beside it.

Children Enjoyment Of When They Are Young

along some quotations from what I have said about reading to the baby and young child. List of Books One of the most popular of my bulletins has been my selected list of books from which to read to the baby and young child. This has just been revised, with the assistance of Miss Margaret Clark, Head of the Lewis Carroll Room of the Cleveland Public Library; also the bulletin has been greatly enlarged to include good reasons for reading early to the child, how to begin and continue it effectively. It may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.

Read to Children

All these children now have young children, a total of nine, and have been reading to them. When our children were very young I was helping train teachers in New York City and used to have long arguments with my colleagues, they all being for story telling only. Even as late as 1920 almost none who were training teachers and librarians would agree with me on the superior merits of reading to the baby and young child. Some story telling can be valuable, too, of course, but only a few persons can tell stories well, while practically every adult can read them and find good ones to read, exposing the child to good language patterns over and over again, inspiring him with the love of good books and reading, and motivating him to want to read alone, by and by.
