By Jack O'Brian

SOME MID-SUMMER NIGHTS' DREAMS ALONG BROADWAY

NEW YORK — Gregory Peck, Dean Stockwell and Anne Revere hopped back to our burg for more shooting on Zanuck's "Gentlemen's Agreement," film adaptation of Laura Z. Hobson's novel about anti-Semitism. The bands and entertainers around Broadway who yowl delightedly when they are held over for second or third weeks in the various entertainment premises of this neon-lit community hardly can compete with Charlie Peterson's orchestra at the New Yorker Hotel. A quiet little announcement arrived today noting the fact that Peterson's tunesmiths have been regaling New Yorker guests for some seven years!

Arthur Godfrey excused the fact that he placed 15th in a 16-boat sailing competition at Larchmont. Arthur noted the 22 hours a week he devotes to the microphone and added, "After all that time at the mike, I can't get up enough wind." Another movie about the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, in the same gay vein as "Weekend at the Waldorf," is in the works. Entitled "Happiness," it's being developed now at M-G-M.

Gina Jans, a chanteuse who works in the fashionable saloons of both East and West coasts, seems to have fallen upon a cute song to hang her future success upon, a ditty little ditty entitled "It Happened in Pasadena." Folks insist she's a feminine Joe E. Lewis. If you wonder why recording artists make personal appearance tours of the nation's radio stations, please be informed it is a very productive trade trick. Johnny Desmond went to Toronto to play the Club Norman there, bustled about the Ontario city's radio stations and record shops with the result: 10,000 copies of Johnny's record of "Guilty" were peddled during his stay, more than ten times the number that had been sold for the several months until then that the disc had been available.

Claude Thornhill, the bandleader whose piano stylings are attracting the recently sweet-minded younger musical fans, is noted for his absent-mindedness. He remembers entire symphonic scores down to the veriest musical marginal note, but has an impossible time with timetables, telephone numbers, where he left his clothing, even addresses of radio studios. So Tin Pan Alley is giggling somewhat over the title of Claude's new record hit: "You're Not So Easy To Forget."

Two Oscar-winning Pauls at separate tables in gaudily gold-tinted Monte-on-the-Park: Paul (Louis Pasteur) Muni and Paul (Watch On The Rhine) Lucas. Tommy Manville, the Much-Ado-About-Nothing fellow, requested Eddie Davis at Leon & Eddie's to dedicate a medley of tunes to his marital background: "The Anniversary Song," and "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." Joe Howard, octogenarian author of the latter ditty, is playing four and five shows a day at the huge Roxy Theater where the movie about his own life, bearing the song's title, is playing. Joe's acknowledgment of congratulations from his friends who marvel at his energy in playing so many vaudeville shows a day at his considerable age is: "How I wish I was 70 again!"

Hopeful Boy Pitcher Pitches Into Kitchen

NEW YORK — (AP) — Gerry Spotts, 14, who aspires to become a professional baseball pitcher, has another major talent—cooking. At the Monroe County Fair, Gerry, competing against four girls, walked off with the first prize in a 4-H Club pie baking contest and took first prizes for cornmeal muffins, and chocolate chip cookies, second prize for a party sandwich tray, and fifth prize for his butter-cream and gingerbread.

Aluminum Owls Fail To Bluff Starlings

MILWAUKEE — (UP) — Suburban West Allis is trying something new to eliminate the starlings who plague residents yearly.

Park board officials installed eight aluminum owls high in treetops usually infested with starlings. The owls have long been the starlings' nemesis, and experts said they probably would frighten the birds away for good.

First reports were rather discouraging, however. The starlings, not in the least dismayed by the metal owls which glared ferociously, ignored them.

It is expected to add 500 other consumers, bringing electric service to everyone in the whole service area who wants it. Mr. Osborne reported that the cooperative, organized in 1938 and financed with loans from the Rural Electrification Administration, now has 375 miles of line serving 2,100 consumers in Buncombe, Haywood, Jackson and Transylvania counties.

"Our construction program has gone ahead much slower than we had expected," Mr. Osborne said. "Nevertheless, we added 520 families to our lines during the past 12 months. We are building new lines just as fast as we can accumulate materials necessary to do the work. So long as any rural family in this area cannot have electricity, our construction program cannot be considered fulfilled. So long as North Carolina has 146,200 farms without electricity, we still have a long way to go."

Members of the HEMC voted at the postponed business session of their annual meeting, September 15, unanimously in favor of three amendments to their charter. These were:

- (1) To increase the borrowing capacity of the cooperative to $4,000,000.
- (2) To allow HEMC electric lines to extend into Rabun county, Ga.
- (3) To formally dissolve the Cruso Mutual Electric corporation, the parent organization of the HEMC

Mr. Osborne emphasized that the Haywood Electric Membership corporation is an independent local business, controlled by the local people it serves. It has borrowed $850,000 to build its electrical system, and it has paid $59,000 in interest and principal on the loan including $11,000 paid ahead of schedule.

"Included in the above funds is $218,000 to construct 148 miles of line to serve 550 rural homes in Jackson, Macon and Transylvania counties," Mr. Osborne reported. "The right-of-way clearing contractor is now on the job and has cleared several miles of right-of-way for this new line. Most of the materials necessary for this work are available in our warehouses and the construction contract has been let. We expect the construction contractor to get on the job around October 15. We are pushing our plans to complete this section of the line as soon as possible."

BABY TAKES CARE OF BABY SITTER

CHICAGO — (AP) — In the middle of an evening of fun in a roadhouse, a young mother telephoned her home to find out whether her youngster was slumbering peacefully. She was shocked when the child answered the call.

"Where," the mother asked, "is the sitter?" "Oh," the tyke replied, "she's sleeping."

is one of the Smokies, in fact it is the largest of the five, with the state seal just above the scene.

The pictorial review covers the entire state to compile a complete record of North Carolina. The four-color pictures show in vivid detail scenes in the Smokies, with Mr. Daniels writing: "They are beyond description, accessible to eighty millions people who live within 600 miles of their breath-taking scenery." Established in 1926, the Great Smoky Mountain National Park already outdraws the older and more spectacular Yellowstone.

"The Smokies, highest mountains in the East, are traversed by some of the nation's best highways, which claim that though new, and still incompleting the Blue Ridge Parkway is the most beautiful in Eastern America."

Asheville Groups Seek Agreement On ABC Election

ASHEVILLE — (AP) — Asheville dries have pledged themselves not to accept money from "bootleggers or South Carolina liquor dealers" for the coming campaign on ABC stores here, if the wets will pledge not to take contributions from manufacturers, dealers, or any commercial liquor interests.

Dr. G. W. Murphy, chairman of a citizens committee opposing the stores, wrote an open letter to R. P. Booth, a member of a group backing the stores. He proposed that both committees be financed by voluntary contributions of their members. Petitions for an election were presented to the City Council last Thursday. They are being checked for the necessary 2,571 names. An enabling law passed by the last Legislature stipulated that an election shall be held within 60 days after petitions are found sufficient.
