Special metal cleaner which require very little rubbing are available for cleaning copper. If you prefer, salt and vinegar or lemon will do a good job. Sprinkle the copper with salt and then rub with vinegar or a slice of lemon. Rinse well and dry with a soft cloth.

In selecting all roasting and baking utensils look for materials sturdy enough not to warp when exposed to high oven temperatures. Few seams, smooth edges, and rounded corners all make cleaning easier. Study the size and shape of your oven before buying cast-iron, utility pans, muffin tins, cake and pie pans. Whenever possible select utensils which can be used for top range as well as for oven cooking.

Plain seams in lined jackets or in travel material may be freed by turning the edges and machine stitching.

Here's a new idea and a good one: Try a mixture of equal parts of sugar and vinegar. Do try it and you'll find it's a real handy thing. Heat two cups white sugar one teaspoon vinegar and pepper to taste and mix well in a small bowl. Sprinkle with paprika and brown in the oven.

Add a dozen chopped pitted dates and a table-spoon of two of fruits cut crystallized ginger to your next Indian pudding. Plain cream or

Truman Invades The States Rights Territory

President Truman (left) arrives in Raleigh, N. C., to make two speeches, and is greeted by North Carolina Gov. R. Gregg Cherry. The President flew to Raleigh after addressing the national convention of the American Legion in Miami, Fla. At right, President Truman passes at the Miami airport to buy a Community Chest Red Feather from four-year-old Linda Hamilton, daughter of a disabled war veteran. The Miami and Raleigh speeches were labeled as non-political. In both Florida and North Carolina, the States Rights Democratic candidate for president, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, has a place on the presidential ballot for the Nov. 2 election. (AP Wirephotos).

DEATHS

IL. C. BRADLEY

Il. C. Bradley, 81, of the Maple section, died on Tuesday, October 12, after a short illness. Funeral services were held in Warner, N. C.

Mr. Bradley was a native of Hayswood County and spent most of his life here. Survivors include two sons, John Bradley of Wayne and Troy Bradley of Warner; five daughters, Mrs. Kellee Mason, Mrs. May Burr Brown and Mrs. Ann Bradshaw, all of Wayne; Mrs. Gertrude Bradley of Hayswood; and Mrs. Kate Chastain of Hayswood; one brother, Isaac Bradley of Sevierville; four grandchildren and 32 great grandchildren. Burial was in charge of arrangements.

JAMES W. FOX

Funeral services for James W. Fox, 81, of Canton, who died Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. L. Frady, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Providence Methodist Church near Marion.

The pastor, assisted by the Rev. C. H. Green and the Rev. Pete Hicks, will officiate. Burial will be conducted at the home of Mrs. Frady in Phillipsville today, at noon before the service and leaves Canton for final rest in Marion.

Mr. Fox is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frady and Mrs. Fred McCrex of Canton; three sons, Fred and Alfred Fox of Canton, and George Fox of Marion; 22 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Spicy flavored hard sauce is best.

There's something out of the home-baked bean. Long slow baking does it. There's no substitute for patience. And put off the whole thing if you can't get some salt pork.

HIS MEMORY GOOD

HOLYOKE, Mass. (U.P.)—Why, it's Percy Tuttle," Jim Reardon said as he reached out to shake hands with the man who walked into his garage. Reardon instantly recognized Tuttle, who left Holyoke 40 years ago to live in California.

WORKS ON DOGS TOO

TILDEN, Ill. (U.P.)—Artificial respiration works on dogs, too. A pup pushed aside a well cover and fell in. Henry Hahn rescued the dog with a rope. After a few minutes of artificial respiration, the dog went on its way.

Red Skelton Hopes That His Children Will Escape Issue

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Red Skelton hopes that his kids will escape the misfortune of growing up as a movie star's children.

He doesn't want them to have all the breaks in life, he said. The red-haired comedian is convinced that children who take a few knocks during youth grow into more substantial and useful citizens.

The star of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "A Southern Yankee" hasn't even any special education plans for his one-and-a-half-year-old daughter Valentina or his five-month-old son Richard.

"I get a pain in the neck from parents who enroll their babies in private prep schools and colleges as soon as they're born," Skelton said. "How do they know what kind of a school the kid will want to go to when he grows up?"

If Richard wants to go to Harvard or Valentina to Vassar that will be okay with Skelton.

Kids Will Choose
"But it'll be a decision they'll make themselves when they're old enough to know what they want," he said.

The Skelton kids will have no private tutors or swanky prep schools.

"They'll go to public grade and high schools," Skelton said. "I want them to buck up against kids of all types and not mix just with the snooty upper crust."

Skelton himself quit school when he was 10 and joined a medicine show to help support his mother. His years as a minstrel man and a circus performer had plenty of up-and down.

"Those bumps I got taught me how to judge people and life," he said. "That's why I don't want my kids to see just the cushy side of things. I think every kid should finish high school at least. But I believe you appreciate learning even more when you've had to get it the hard way."
If Valentina and Richard want to become college professors, that's fine with their pa.

"But if they decide to work as circus clowns," he said, "that's okay with me, too."
Wild camels have become so much of a nuisance in some parts of Australia that they are shot on sight by ranchers.

If you were the President of A&P...

What would you do to make your A&P a better place to shop?

Have you ever said to yourself, "If I were the President of A&P, I know what I'd do"? I think there are many A&P customers who would like the opportunity to express themselves on the subject of their A&P. I really believe that from your side of the counter, you know A&P best. That's why I ask your opinion. You can help to make your A&P an even better place to do all your food buying by sending me your suggestions . . . criticisms . . . opinions. For instance, what about our service? Is it as courteous and helpful as you would like it to be? Is it prompt and efficient, too? Do you always find all items plainly and correctly price-tagged—as they should be? What in your opinion are we doing that we could do even better? Or what are we not doing that you feel we should do?

I INVITE YOU TO WRITE AND TELL ME HOW YOUR A&P MAY SERVE YOU BETTER

We of A&P want to make our stores the finest places of all in which to shop. That is why your suggestions, criticisms and opinions will be gratefully received and acknowledged. You see there are 100,000 employees of A&P from coast to coast jealously guarding the A&P reputation for courteous, honest, and efficient service. They never want to fail you in any way, but if they do, I am sure that they, as well as I, would appreciate your writing me.
