Ephesus Becomes Christian Center

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Bueschier

Scripture—Acts 19:1-20:16; Ephesians 4:25-32.

Paul, coming to Ephesus, Asia, found certain disciples there; but when he questioned them about baptism, he found they did not know about the Holy Ghost. Paul baptized them, then laid his hands on them and the Holy Ghost descended upon them.

Paul preached in the synagogue for about three months, but when many refused to believe and spoke evil of his work, he left the synagogue and took his message to the school of one Tyrannus, where he disputed daily for "the space of two years."

Many Ephesians were worshippers of the Greek goddess Diana. Silversmiths made money making small shrines to the goddess and selling them. This business was threatened by Paul's teaching, so the silversmiths brought Paul before the magistrate, who dismissed them.

While Paul was preaching one night, a young man named Eutychus, sitting by a window, went to sleep, fell from the third story and was taken up apparently dead, but Paul brought him back to life again.
