Music Camp Opens On 22nd Near Brevard

The Transylvania Music Camp will open for its fourteenth year of operation on June 22nd. The camp located one and a half miles from Brevard, is the South's only music camp for boys and girls.

The summer camp season runs until August 6th, and is climaxed with the Brevard Music Festival which dates have been announced for August 11, 12, 13 and 18, 19 and 20.

A number of music students from here plan to attend the camp again this summer.

Colorado is famous for its Yule marble. Lincoln's Memorial and Tomb of the Unknown Soldier are constructed from this beautiful stone.

In Charge Of Lake Recreation

TOM STOCKTON

RICHARD CROWDER

JOE JACK WELLS

BILL LEWIS

These four young men, under the direction of Richard Crowder, are in charge of the recreation program at Lake Junaluska for the summer. Crowder, a ministerial student of Duke University, has already started his boys club at the Lake. The organization proved so popular and beneficial last year that much interest and demand called for it to be renewed again this year. The boys are taught to swim, directed recreation and a general camping program.

Eastern Band Has Big Week At Lake

The Elizabeth City 102-piece band left Lake Junaluska this morning, following a week's stay here. They visited a number of scenic spots, and gave three concerts while in Western North Carolina.

They gave two concerts at Lake Junaluska, and on Saturday afternoon went to Oteen Veterans Hospital in their special buses, and gave a concert for the veterans. Thursday they went to the Billmore House and Wednesday to Clingman's Dome.

They were escorted throughout the area by Cpl. John Carpenter of the highway Patrol.

A tin plated steel canister, packed with meat in 1824, was opened in England in 1938. Its contents were found edible.

Note To Tourist Operators

As a matter of information to the many readers of this page, the names of those visiting here will be carried, without charge. The list, including address, should be mailed, or brought to the Vacation Page editor, by six o'clock Friday, or six o'clock Monday. Please do not call them in by phone, as this ties up all our telephone lines too long. This page will be published every Monday and Thursday.

Florida Hotel Operators Predict Banner Season

"Bigger and better than ever," is the description of the current summer season given by Mrs. A. A. Ames, of St. Petersburg. Mrs. Ames, together with Mr. Ames, operate the Ames Hotel in the Florida resort city.

"We have already made reservations for many people, and would have made more, but find that the season was going to be crowded," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Ames are leaving to attend a national hotel association in Denver.

"Our plans are to build a summer home here, and we also have tentative plans for the erection of some tourist facilities. There is nothing that can be said along that line at this time," she continued.

Mrs. Ames said that she has heard of the Cherokee drama in Florida, and felt it would be a major attraction for this area throughout the season.

here Thursday night, as the Jaycees begin their regular weekly dance on the parking lot of the court house.

"Aunt" Ida promised to give the spectators "a real show" but refused to reveal just what act, or dance she planned to present.

Proceeds will be used for the community betterment fund of the organization.

Telephone System At Cherokee Put Into Operation

A large delegation of civic leaders of Western North Carolina witnessed the formal cutting in of the dial telephone system at Cherokee on Saturday.

The project, promoted by the WNCAC for many months became a reality Saturday, and is the second inter-city toll system in the state.

A luncheon was given at Boundary Tree Inn, with Percy Ferebee, president of WNCAC presiding. Short talks were made by Mr. Garibaldi, president of the Western Carolina Telephone Company, Mr. McKelvin, manager; Joe Jennings, superintendent of the Cherokee
