PULLING TOGETHER
Two old mules, now get this dope, were tied together with a piece of rope.

Said one to the other, "You come my way while I take a nibble of this new mown hay."

"I won't," said the other, "You come my way, for I too have some hay you see."

So they got nowhere, just pawed up dirt, and how, how, that old rope did hurt!

Then they faced about, those stubborn mules, and said, "We're too much like human fools."

Let's pull together, I'll go your way, then come with me and we'll both eat hay."

Well they ate their hay, and liked it too, and swore to be comrades good and true.

As the sun went down they were heard to say, "Ah, This is the end of a perfect day—"

We must pull together—'tis the only way."

Speaking For Animals

who cannot speak for themselves.

It really isn't important who I am. I could be the family cat or the old dog "taken for a ride" and left to die of starvation in the mountains, a cow, or one of those "there ain't nothing dumber on earth than a chicken." I am an animal and I can't talk, someone's got to do it for me—because it's important.

Here's my gripe:
Two months ago some humans with a conscience formed an SPCA: a humane society to look after the interests of the likes of me. There's about eighty paid members. Last Monday night there was a meeting. Nine paid members showed up. What goes here anyway?

Do you know the moral tone of a community is raised where an SPCA is supported?

"Hush, you dumb beast, our ears and health are okah!"
Oh, yeah!
And the public health is not threatened in any way? about the rabid cows in the dam township?
Animal to man I ask you goes?
