500 Methodist Laymen From 16 Conferences To Meet At Junaluska 20th

More than 500 Methodist laymen from 16 conferences of the southeastern states will assemble at Lake Junaluska July 20th for four days to consider more effective means of promoting the lay activities in Methodist churches. It has been announced by Lee Davis, secretary-treasurer of the Board of Lay Activities for the Southeastern Jurisdiction of The Methodist church and lay leader for the Tennessee Conference. Letters of invitation have been sent to 5,000 lay leaders of the southeast according to Mr. Davis, and every Methodist church is asked to send a delegate to the conference.

Fred B. Noble, attorney of Jacksonville, Florida and president of the board, will preside. Mr. Noble is also lay leader of the Florida conference and a member of the General Board of Lay Activities of The Methodist Church.

Dr. Ben G. Childs, Duke University, Durham, as program chairman, has obtained some outstanding speakers for the occasion.

Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of Christ Church, New York City, will speak in the auditorium Thursday night at eight o'clock. His subject will be "New Horizons for the Church." On Friday Dr. Sockman will address the conference on "The Road Ahead for Christian Laymen."

Dr. Sockman, who is well known as an author and lecturer, has been minister of Christ Church since 1917.

Dr. J. Earl Moreland, President of Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va., will also address the conference on Friday. His subject will be "Churchmen United." Dr. Moreland is internationally known in church and educational circles, having been a missionary and later president of Porto Alegre College, Brazil, and from 1936-39 was vice president of Scarritt College, Nashville.

Alexander Nunn, of Birmingham, Ala., editor of The Progressive Farmer, will speak Saturday morning on "The Rural Church and Its Laymen." A prominent lay leader, Mr. Nunn has distinguished himself through service on many state, federal and church boards and commissions.

Robert G. Mayfield, associate secretary of the General Board of Lay Activities of The Methodist Church, Chicago, will attend the conference and speak on "Methodist Men for the Man of Gallies."

Bishop Marvin A. Franklin of Jackson, Mississippi, will give the closing sermon Sunday morning, July 23rd on "Leading Laymen." Bishop Franklin is in charge of the Jackson Area of The Methodist Church which includes the Mississippi and North Mississippi conferences.

A very popular and helpful feature of the conference has been the forum discussions in rotating sections, so that each layman attending participates in all the subjects discussed. Dr. Sam M. Holton, president of Louisiana College, Louisiana, as director of the forums will designate various laymen to lead the discussions and a findings committee to summarize and report on the conclusions reached and recommendations adopted by the conference.

A new feature of the conference this year will be the awarding by Dr. Hollis Edens, president of Duke University, of the William P. Few Memorial Trophy to the individual conference having the largest delegation present at this Southeastern Conference.

A get-acquainted reception will be given at Lambuth Hall on opening night at 9:00 o'clock.

Hog Rifle Shooting Match Will Attract Many People

This picture is a typical scene at the annual Hog Rifle shooting matches held each year at Cata-loochee Ranch. The colorful event will be held on August 9th of this year, and hundreds of persons are expected to attend and see experts fire century-old rifles at a target 100 yards away. The participants make their own bullets right on the ground, and four age groups take turns firing at the targets for the prize beef.

The words to the patriotic hymn, "America," were written in 1832 by a theological student, Samuel Francis Smith, to the tune, "God Save The King," which he found in a German songbook.

The common brown hare raises her young in solitary manner. After they are a few days old, she finds a separate form for each and visits them each night for suckling.

The earliest known printing about America is the Columbus Letter, printed in 1493, a two-leaf news sheet announcing the discovery of the islands of the Indies to the Spanish court.
