

Candidates For Queen Of Haywood Folk Festival

These pretty girls are among the candidates seeking the title of queen of the 1950 Haywood Folk Festival. Dot Norris of Waynesville won the 1949 crown. The beauty contest, scheduled for Saturday night, will be one of the many outstanding features of the annual event, which will be held Thursday at the Canton Memorial Recreation Park. Left to right are Greta Smith of Clyde, Mae Bryson, Conchita Haddis, Jo Ann Trull, and Adrienne Smathers, all of Canton; and Sara White of Waynesville. Two more Waynesville girls—Kathryn Hyatt and Elaine Francis—will be in the contest after this picture was taken. The Festival is under the sponsorship of the Canton Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

Speaking For Animals who cannot speak for themselves.

Now here for sure is a tale of woe—"mother and six children deserted". Well, don't worry about mother and one of the children because they are spoken for and have a home ready and waiting. But this leaves five children needing a home. And the thing of it is that these children are just about full blooded little cocker spaniels—if they have no written pedigree on paper it is written in their points. The owner of the mother just

Poindexter Named Canton Full-Time Recreation Chief

C. C. Poindexter, former Waynesville and Canton High School football coach, last week was named full-time director for Canton's expanding town recreation program. He had been serving as part-time director during the past year after the recreation commission and program was organized. During the last school term he had served as athletic director at Canton High School. The announcement of his full-time appointment to the town recreation job was made following a meeting of the Canton recreation commission.

At the same session, plans were laid to expand the facilities at the year-old Memorial Recreation Park. The announcement was made by F. E. Schull, Commission chairman. The other members of the Commission are Dr. V. H. Duckett, Dr. J. R. Westmoreland, Beekman Hugler, Mrs. James Wells, Maurice Brooks, the Rev. J. Clayton Lime, Willis Kirkpatrick, and A. J. Reno. Mr. Poindexter served as head coach at Waynesville High School for 13 years, then moved to Canton when he was named to coach the Canton gridgers.

Last summer, he was promoted to the job of high school athletic director, but worked with the Black Bears linemen last season as well.

cocker with his pedigree written in his face—and good points, ought to bring just a fraction of this figure to cover mother's board bill and all the good care she's had? That's fair, isn't it? You see the animal hospital is a private enterprise, it isn't like an animal SHELTER which maybe, someday, the Haywood County SPCA can have—but not now when it's just a few months old. Just about now these little fellows are ready for a home. Dr. Riegg has bobbed their tails and they're trim as can be and free of troubles. Dr. Riegg is due back from his vacation today so if you want a little cocker pup, please call him at 660-R. Just remember the mother and one of the pups have already been sold, but all are still at Dr. Riegg's
