Sweet Potatoes For Hearty Fall Menus

YAM PUDDING... An All-male favorite.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

For a delicious flavor change serve sweet potatoes often this fall. Used with the main course or for dessert in pudding, pie, custard, cake, or cookies, and they'll add excellent food values to your family's meals. They're rich in vitamin A and also provide worthwhile quantities of vitamin C and small amounts of the B vitamins and minerals. You can rely on them to provide food energy, too.

The deep yellow moist sweet potatoes are often called yams—you can learn to tell this variety by their bulbous shape and skin color. You'll find them fresh in many markets but you also can find them packed various ways on grocery shelves. From Louisiana, for instance, come small whole sweet potatoes packed in syrup. These "small wholes" are fully-matured, just small in size. They are usually as free of strings, nutritious, and full of flavor as the larger yams. It's easy to mash them and their sweet syrup makes them a natural for use in desserts. These small whole potatoes are attractive, too, when they're candied. If you prefer yams packed in water instead of a syrup, you also can find these in cans.

Easiest way of all to prepare fresh yams is to bake them in their jackets to serve with meat, poultry, or fish. Choose yams of uniform size for baking; if they're very large you can cut them in half crosswise before baking. Wash and dry them and bake in a hot (425° F.) oven for 35 minutes to an hour, until they're tender, depending on their size. If you want the yams to have a soft skin when you serve them, rub a little fat on them before baking. When they're ready, cut crisscross gashes on one side of each potato, pinch the bottom so that some of the soft inside pops up through the opening. Wedge a fat chunk of butter into each opening, and garnish with parsley.

LOUISIANA YAM PUDDING

Ingredients: 3 cups mashed yams, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup hot top milk, 2 eggs (beaten), 2/3 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon salt, 12 marshmallows, maraschino cherries.

Method: Mash and fluff yams, adding butter, hot milk, eggs, sugar, allspice, nutmeg, and salt. Beat with electric mixer. If available, turn into buttered baking dish and top with marshmallows. Bake 1 hour at 350° F. Garnish with cherries. Cool a little before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Note: If canned yams are used, mash with syrup from the can and 1/2 cup hot top milk or cream. Otherwise, use four to five medium-size fresh yams, pre-cooked in their skins, and fluffed with 1 cup hot milk.

Too Much Temptation

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—A man charged in municipal court with drunkenness complained of having been in bad company. "I was out with three men and I had a bottle of Scotch," he said. "The other three were teetotalers."

The simple tools used by American craftsmen to blow glass today—a slender hollow tube, wooden paddles, a caliper—are the same as those used for centuries by foreign workmen.
