Former Haywood Man Has 400-Acre Show-Place Dairy Farm Near Statesville

N. C. James, former Haywood merchant-farmer, now operating a 400-acre farm at Statesville, was featured in the Sunday issue of the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel.

Maybe it would describe him better to say that he worked 23 years before he got the chance to do the kind of work he wanted to do.

In acquiring a farm, the James family departed from the conventional procedure Most folks buy a rundown farm and build it up.

He purchased the Fairview Farm of J. E. Dooley, Statesville, Route 4. Mr. Dooley lumped in everything, including a fine herd of beef cattle.

Mr. James made one more major change after he got the farm. He sold out the beef cattle, lock, stock and barrel, and then started building a dairy herd.

There are few farms such as N. C. James' Fairview in North Carolina. He has added slightly to his acreage since making the original purchase and he now has 400 acres.

Many farms have small acreages of fine pasture, high yielding field crops and miscellanies. Mr. James' entire acreage is almost ideally productive.

shows with the best of them, if they only had their official pedigrees intact. Mr. James plans to change all that, but he will "milk his way through" He will move deliberately so that the pedigrees he gets won't cost too much.

Two of the James sons are at home, N. C. Jr., a graduate of State College and William, who attended Mars Hill College. Max and Tex are in school. One daughter, Miss Hilja James, works at Franklinton.

And the "green light" glows there constantly. The "green light" always glows where green grass grows. Mr. James brought with him the know-how to make green grass grow, as he learned it among the farmers of a mountain county and is applying that know-how to level land. The results are most satisfactory.

At Fairview Farm, the bills are paid and "the goose hangs high."

Wrecked Truck Holds Headaches

IVOR, Va. — (AP) — State Trooper A. O. Downing said he had never seen so many curious people before in his life. But he refused to let any of them stop on U. S. Route 460 near here after a heavy tractor-trailer truck ran off the road, overturned and struck a tree.

Carriages with bodies suspended on straps appeared in Europe early in the 1400s.

Climbs Last Tree At 89

LAMESA, Tex. — (AP) — To celebrate his retirement, 89-year-old J. G. Minor skipped nimbly up a step-ladder and perched in a tree.

An Alabamian who came of Texas in 1895, Minor has been pruning and shaping trees, shrubs and rose bushes for Lamesa residents since 1924. He kept at work regularly until recently. His last job was the trimming of trees and shrubs at the post office a few days ago.

"I'm going to quit and take it easy now, and sell my tools for $15—but that's too cheap," he said almost tearfully.

The designation "red ball" for urgent freight originated with the practice of painting a red dot on cars loaded with priority cargo.

William Penn Gets Modern Headgear

PHILADELPHIA — There's a "feather" in the crown of the statue of William Penn atop Philadelphia's City Hall. The antenna of one of the city's five departmental radio stations is installed in the crown.

Radio Corporation of America designed and built the 10-watt station which is the nation's third largest around-the-clock professional disaster radio station.

The two radio stations, a few miles of each other, are in constant contact. A 30-watt transmitter-receiver installed on fire engines and other authorized equipment.
