Bethel FFA Students Get The 'Feel' Of A Tractor

Bethel FFA Has Tractor Field Day

The Bethel FFA held a tractor field day at Bethel High School recently with the cooperation of the Ford and Ferguson Tractor Companies. It was not a contest; the tractors were not matched. The sole purpose was to give the future farmers a chance to operate a tractor and learn how to handle them for such tasks as preparing the seed bed, and fertilizing and planting small grain.

There are now 85 members in the Bethel Chapter of the FFA, and until the field day fully half of them had not operated modern farm equipment. The company representatives gave a demonstration of each tractor, and the rest of the time the boys were at the controls.

Some Fulgrain oats were donated for demonstration purposes by the Farmer's Federation of Waynesville. Fertilizer was given by the Smoky Mountains Fertilizer Company of the Haywood County Farmer's Cooperative.

The three and one-half acres of oats seeded in the demonstration will be harvested as seed oats and sold to help pay for a new truck recently purchased by the Bethel Chapter.

Another gift to the chapter recently was a Mill Iron Ranch Registered Domino Breeding Hereford Bull, presented by the Sears Roebuck Foundation. FFA members will use the bull free, and any farmer may also have free use of it if he will agree to sell any or all of his bull calves to a FFA member at current market prices.

MORE ABOUT Clyde

The game ended shortly as a cold wind swept in harder and harder, and heavy fog blanketed the area. The weather, however, could do nothing to the spirit of the Cardinals. They had waited through many disappointments for a chance to yell "We won!" and their chance had come. Coach Hugh Constance was as happy as any of his players; he was unable to speak for several moments and several hard swallows of the cold damp air.

The Cardinals showed vast improvement, handling the ball with an ease and confidence they had never shown before. The line was on its toes, playing good defensive ball and giving beautiful blocking. Whenever Jolley went back to pass he had no need to hurry.

The Hot Springs boys took their defeat with a grin. Their coach, Bill Whitten, explained that they had won only one game while losing five, but he pointed out that his was a small team, averaging 130 pounds, and very short on reserves. With eleven men on the field, four remained on the bench. But all that is beside the point. Clyde won her first ballgame by a whopping 33 to 0 score.

The lineup:

For Clyde: Thompson, LE; McCracken, LT; Shuler, LG; Medford, C; Stevenson, RG; Francis, RT; Milner, RE; Long, QB; Limbo, RB; Jolley, LB; and Snyder, FB.

For Hot Springs: H. Lamb, LE; C. Gregory, LT; Barnett, LG; Moore, C; F. Gregory, RG; Raleigh, RT; Harrison, RE; B. Lamb, QB; Henderson, RB; Stills, LB; and Norton, FB.

Officials: Stamey, umpire; Eble, referee; Constance, head linesman.
