

Court House Ends Jail Cell

Every day that men on Campbell's "wanted" list are in the court house and his deputies are searching for them, it was such a day.

When mail today Sheriff Gaddis got a warrant from the court for the arrest of Gaddis, charged with the death of a year-old child.

Before the sheriff had to send a deputy out to Gaddis, the man sought by the sheriff's door on the men's restroom in the house. He never got away minutes later he was upstairs with Sheriff Gaddis.

Gaddis was ordered $12 monthly for support of child when his case during the recent term of court in Swain county. Gaddis has sent no money since that time, Sheriff explained.

Recently got a loan here presumably to be sent to jail but spent the money on beer instead, the sheriff said.

Another man has been working at Lake Junaluska, but has not done a full day's work during the job. Sheriff Campbell said.

OLD POLITICAL FOES BURY THE AXE

BYGONES ARE BYGONES as far as Sen. Robert A. Taft (left) and Joseph T. (Jumping Joe) Ferguson are concerned. Sen. Taft defeated Ferguson in the 1950 Ohio election, and a Senate Election subcommittee in Washington is hearing charges that a fortune was spent to keep Taft in the Senate. Meeting outside the hearing room, the two exchange handshakes. Taft said his opponents spent three dollars to his one during the senatorial campaign. (International Soundphoto)

A new method of artificial respiration—to replace the prone pressure method widely used for years—has been adopted by the American Red Cross and other U. S. agencies, according to Dr. I. M. Weir, county health officer, in charge of Red Cross first aid and water safety work in the area.

The new system is known as the back pressure-arm lift method. It was adopted on the recommendation of the National Research Council after the presentation of scientific evidence at an Oct. 1 meeting sponsored by the Red Cross and Public Health Service.

The Red Cross is proceeding now to provide all its chapters with instruction in this new method of artificial respiration. Regional meetings have been scheduled throughout the country for training of key instructors from local chapters.

The Waynesville Red Cross chapter will be represented at a meeting in Asheville this month by Mrs. Ethel McMorris and Mrs. Frank Miller. Instructors will come to Asheville from Atlanta.

"Everyone in Haywood county should acquire this simple knowledge that might save his or her neighbor's life," Dr. Weir asserted. As an organization founded on the principle of neighbor-held-neighbor, your Red Cross is here to place this knowledge within reach of every citizen in the community.

"The back pressure-arm lift method," Dr. Weir pointed out, "is not new. It has stood the test of years of use by Red Cross societies in Denmark, Norway, and other European countries, which have found that this improved method produced a greater exchange of air in the victim's lungs than the prone pressure method."

"The basic difference is the back pressure-arm lift method and the prone pressure is that the former, being a two-phase operation, actively forces air into the lungs as well as to expel it."

"The prone pressure method, on the other hand, forces the air out but depends on the elastic recoil of the chest and internal organs to bring air into the lungs. This difference is particularly important in cases of deep asphyxia, such as might be caused by nerve gas."

Other agencies adopting the back pressure-arm lift method at this time include the Armed Forces, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., Bureau of Mines, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, the American Medical Association, Federal Civil Defense Administration, Girl Scouts, Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency, and the YMCA.

Tour Of West Pigeon Taken

MRS. HORACE PEEK
Mountaineer Reporter

Mrs. Kay Riggles and Dr. C. B. Ratchford, two judges from North Carolina State College have toured West Pigeon community. Mrs. Henry Garnes and Mrs. Horace Peek met them in Pigeon Gap where the tour started. It included a complete drive through the community and it ended at the Bethel School cafeteria where the judges, County Agent Wayne Franklin, and Mr. Esquela and Mr. Ericson of Norway, were luncheon guests. The county agent and the two Norwegians also toured Pigeon Valley making a study of the methods of farm living and the school system. At Bethel School Principal Evans explained some of the ways American schools are run. The staff of the school paper told about "The Echo" which proved to be of great interest.

Clinic For Infants Opened Here By Health Dept.

A new county health department service—a mother and infants clinic—was opened in the court house here this week. Dr. I. M. Weir, county health officer, announced today.

The clinic, which will be held from 1:30 until 3:30 p. m. the first Tuesday in each month, will be staffed by Dr. J. F. Hammett, and his wife, Dr. Doris Hammett.

Dr. J. F. Hammett will give advice on planned parenthood (birth control), while Dr. Doris Hammett will offer counsel on infant care and feeding and giving immunizations.

The new service will operate as a "well-baby" clinic Dr. Weir stated. Sick children who require medical advice and treatment should be taken to physicians, the doctor said.

The county health department also is maintaining a mothers and infants clinic in Canton.

Million Jubilee Tickets Are Sold

The million mark in the distribution of Trade Jubilee Tickets here was reached yesterday, according to Mrs. Robert M. Boyd, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The jubilee began the first of October, and will continue through December 15. Mrs. Boyd predicted that 1,050,000 tickets will have been given out by the close of the contest.

Local merchants buy the tickets from the Chamber of Commerce for distribution to their customers.
