

Canton Completing Plans For Labor Day Program; Varied Events Featured

Plans are moving swiftly along in connection with the mammoth and colorful street parade which will feature Canton's 47th annual Labor Day celebration Monday, September 7.

G. Nat Fortney and George Howard Trostell have been named co-chairmen of the special feature by J. Paul Murray, Labor Day's general chairman.

Gaily accented floats, automobiles and trucks, buggies and cars will be colorfully decorated for the event. There will also be many individual entries which will run along a humorous vein. A lot of human interest also will be packed into this gigantic annual program feature.

Both Fortney and Trostell are contacting merchants, business men, civic clubs and other prospective entries in order to line the full program up as early as possible.

Street and window decorations will be featured Labor Day along with platform decorations where many events will take place during the afternoon and evening hours. Loranzo Smathers has accepted the chairmanship of this decorating assignment.

Square dance teams, string bands, individual performers, including various contests will take place on the bandstand at Canton High School stadium.

At least eight outstanding square dance teams will be seen in action along with a half dozen string bands who'll be competing for folk music honors.

All food handlers connected with concession stands will be required to have health certificates. The board of health made this point clear during a recent conference with Labor Day officials.

Wesley Holtzclaw is chairman of concession stands and will sign all groups applying for space on a "first come, first served" basis. Only charitable groups will be eligible to operate concessions, Labor Day officials have announced.

The Doll and Pet show, functioning under the chairmanship of Mrs. Noah Swofford, is expected to draw many entries and hundreds of spectators.

The queen of Labor Day will be officially crowned during a colorful coronation ball ceremony Labor Day night. This program is sponsored by the Canton-Bethel-Clyde Chamber of Commerce with Al Phillips as chairman.

Walter Holton, Y staff member, will have charge of platform functions Labor Day afternoon and evening. A varied program, involving many entertainers, is planned.

Yoder Clark, long active in singing conventions in this section of the state, will serve as chairman of the Labor Day singing convention, booked for Sunday afternoon, September 6, at the high school stadium.

Yoder is inviting all singers in this and many other sections to participate in this special pre-Labor Day Sabbath sing fest.

The Labor Day program here usually attracts between 10,000 and 15,000 persons during the day.

Carolina State College, formerly with Hoard's Dairyman Farm and University of West Virginia, will speak on "Quality Roughage—Or Else?" Hyatt is well-known nationally and is a dairy expert who is well received by audiences.

Haywood Cooperative Breeding Assn., Inc. extends the invitation of the American Breeders Service to all customers, dairymen, and friends to attend this first Field Day on August 18th at Asheville, where there will be some of the best speakers in the country, artificial breeding demonstrations, and exhibit tents full of interesting and educational dairy displays.

If you are out of shoe polish, try using household wax. Both liquid and cream wax will clean and polish as well. Liquid wax is best for reptile or perforated leathers as it doesn't turn white in hard-to-polish indentations. Use cream wax on white shoes, as it won't leave a powdery residue.

Cherokee Tribe Gets $3,500 From Several Projects

The Cherokee Historical Association has mailed a check for $3,491.50 to the Cherokee Tribal Community Services for the month of July as its share of a three per cent tribal levy on Association projects.

For the same period in 1952 the Association paid into the Cherokee Tribal treasury $3,362.84.

Prior to the opening of the Cherokee Indian drama, "Unto These Hills," the Association paid to the tribe $339.29, a three per cent levy on gross receipts from Oconaluftee Indian Village.

Last year the total levy paid to the tribe by the Association during the operation of "Unto These Hills" and the Village was $8,470.19.

Under a tribal ruling which went into effect in 1952, all business establishments, including the Cherokee Historical Association projects which are operated on a non-profit basis, are assessed three per cent of their gross income.

Funds from the levy are presently being used by the tribe to maintain its police and fire departments and sanitary program.

Although there has been no disclosure of the tribal audit on the amount taken through the levy, it is believed that the Cherokee Historical Association leads the list in the amount paid into the tribal treasury.
