

RECRUITER MEETS FORMER 'CUSTOMERS'. T/Sgt. Joseph H. Lathrop of Hazelwood, local Marine Corps recruiter, paid a visit recently to a group of Haywood County men he recruited. The men, no longer awkward "boots," graduated from basic training courses today, and will arrive home tomorrow afternoon. Many Waynesville and Canton high school graduates will be on hand tomorrow night to root their respective teams to victory. Pictured are Roy Thomas Scott, son of Mrs. Laura P. Scott, Clyde; Bobby Lee Troutman, son of Frank Troutman, Hazelwood; Sgt. Lathrop; Bobby Lee Putnam, son of Robert E. Lee Putnam, Hazelwood, and Luther C. Skidmore, son of Joe Skidmore, Canton.

find a universal lack of understanding, mistrust, and suspicion in a land of plenty, where there is liberty, love and religion. "What is the purpose of our existence if it is not to make better our environment, our community, and our nation?" Dr. Unger asked his listeners.

"If we too observed the precepts of the 10 Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount and lived as real Christians and Jews, we would not have to worry about Communism, Nazism, or Fascism. The time has come when we must stop living our religion only on Sunday and forgetting it the other six days of the week," the rabbi urged.

R. C. Sheffield, chairman of the Boys and Girls work committee, reported that more than 200 children were treated to a free movie, candy and ice cream last Saturday in the Kiwanis Club's observance of National Kids Day.

James Childress, past president of Kiwanis, who is leaving Waynesville, was given a rousing ovation as he attended his club's meeting for the last time.

Visitors Tuesday night were Kiwanians Bill Gray of Miami, P. W. Dolloff of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sappington, Vero Beach, Fla.

Henry Cotton of England, three-time winner of the British Open championship, is the author of a new golf book entitled "My Swing".

area. On the other hand, new visitors were brought into the area by publicity given to Western North Carolina by the Highlander's exhibit at the National Travel Show at Chicago last February.

Fred Whitaker, director of the State Travel Bureau, stressed the importance of the regional promotion organization and encouraged renewed efforts for the coming year. He assured the Highlanders of the cooperation of the State Advertising Division and Travel Bureau in carrying the program forward.

Ralph Andrews, director of the North Carolina Recreation Commission, stressed the importance of improved, organized recreation programs and enlargement of recreational facilities. He commended the Highlanders on their recent survey of North Carolina recreational facilities and scenic attractions and urged the group to make full use of the information compiled and to work with the recreation commission in further developments in this field.

The Great Somkies-Blue Ridge "vacation map" sponsored by the Highlanders proved to be the most widely used publication in connection with regional promotion. Approximately 50,000 copies of the map were printed this year for distribution to Chambers of Commerce, tourist facility operators, business concerns, and travel groups.

Dr. Kelly Bennett of Bryson City, chairman of the North Carolina Park, Parkway and Forest Development Commission, also played a prominent part in the meeting.

liff's department, together with representatives of the Health office, would make a house-to-house canvass of the area to determine that all dogs in the area had been vaccinated for rabies. Those dog owners failing to comply with the law will be cited to court, they explained.

The health officers said that in the event of being bitten by a dog, that the person wash the place for 20 to 30 minutes with warm soapy water and contact a doctor as soon as possible. The health officer also advised that children be cautioned from picking up stray dogs and cats, and be aware of any pets acting strangely.

A rabid dog died the first of September after biting four people, and being in contact with six others, and a number of dogs. A quarantine was placed on the Allens Creek area at the time for a 21-day period.

handicapped and hire them whenever possible. However, the need of a press and radio publicity was emphasized to acquaint smaller concerns with the work of potentialities of crippled persons.

It was pointed out that national surveys have disclosed that handicapped persons make valuable workers when given a job within their individual capabilities. In this connection, local employers will be urged to evaluate their jobs to determine if they can be performed by the handicapped.

At present, the Employment Security Commission office here has 33 handicapped persons registered as job seekers, according to Miss DeBrayda Fisher, employment manager.

Present at the meeting yesterday were Mrs. Leila Parham, employment manager of the Welco Shoe Corp.; John Moore, assistant personnel director at Dayton Rubber Co.; Kenneth D. Fry, owner-manager of radio station WHCC; Mr. Whitehead, Mrs. Alley, Miss Fisher, and Bob Conway, Mountaineer reporter.

similar projects in other communities before the final drafting of blueprints.

The 7-member committee is also asking for suggestions from Haywood citizens on the project, and have asked Miss Mary Cornwell, Home Demonstration agent, to head a committee of women to offer suggestions for the Home Arts Building.

Three members of the county committee were named to confer with Town officials relative to water and sewer connections. The committee pointed out that they did not want the citizens to feel that suggestions were not welcomed. "We want, and need, all the suggestions we can get," one committee member said. "This is a county-wide project, and we want to build it for the best interest of the people of the county."

The committee is composed of Jack Chapman, chairman, Ed Sims, Richard Barber, Roy Haynes, treasurer, B. F. Nesbitt, Mrs. Henry Garner, and Mrs. W. D. Ketter, secretary.

Two Haywood industries have given $5,500 towards the construction of the buildings — Champion Paper and Fibre Company gave $5,000 and Carolina Power and Light Company $500.

Roundabout Alarm

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. (AP)—Merrimac Police Chief Maurice Carey figured in a 50-mile relay to notify North Andover police that their high school was on fire.

Carey observed the fire while passing through this community —25 miles from his own territory. He relayed the information by radio phone to his desk officer in Merrimac.

The desk officer radioed North Andover police, saving Carey the trouble of looking for a phone or fire alarm box. Damage was slight.
