The roses, grown by Miss Ballard's sister, Miss Louise Ballard, are approximately six inches in diameter and are a cream-yellow shade with a pink tint at the edge of the petals. Originating in France, the Peace rose was brought to this country several years ago and has become popular with all flower growers. It is unique in that no two blossoms are ever alike and the colors vary with the season. It blooms from spring until late fall and is particularly resistant to black spot. Miss Ballard has had the bush, from which these blossoms were cut, about four years. (Mountaineer Photo).

"That singeth songs to an heavy heart."

Prov. 25:20

None suffered pain as much as she . . . "Just as I am without one plea" . . . Went Charlotte Elliott's plaintive song . . . That to the ages will belong . . . One of the great Communion lays . . . To those who suffer she portrays . . . The hope and trust although cast down . . . And prays that Heaven's mercies crown . . . Their lives of pain as they succumb . . . And sing, "O Lamb of God, I come!"
