'Bride Of The Gorilla' Stars Barbara Payton In Top Role

It was not too long ago that blonde and lovely Barbara Payton was running a modeling school in Hollywood, appearing in pictures whenever she could snare assignments. Then she was spotted by William Cagney. He gave her the break of her career by casting her as James Cagney's leading lady in "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye."

She followed that with a top role opposite Gregory Peck in "Only the Valiant". And now she has completed her most recent starring role in Jack Broder's thriller production, "Bride of the Gorilla," which opens Oct. 23 at the Strand Theatre, through Realart Pictures release, with a co-starring trio of noted actors including Lon Chaney, Raymond Burr and Tom Conway.

This pert, blonde actress, who was born in the little town of Cloquet, Minnesota, on November 16, 1927, enthusiastically admits that she has one of her best starring roles to date in "Bride of the Gorilla". In her part as a professional dancer who goes to live on a jungle plantation, Barbara declared recently that she is given an opportunity to fully reveal her acting and dancing talents.

R. C. FRANCIS, prominent Haywood County farmer, will be the main speaker at a banquet and installation of officers by the North Carolina Secretaries Association at their first state convention here Friday through Sunday.

Secretaries

The convention will close Sunday morning at a breakfast program of special music by Mrs. Ellen Fox Way, accompanied by Mrs. Ray Ballard. Miss Jimmie Watts will preside, and Rev. Malcolm Williamson will give the invocation.

Miss Mary Medford, vice president of the Mountaineer chapter, is general chairman of arrangements for the convention. Committee members are:

Registration and reception: Louise Gaddy, chairman, and Betty Jo Crocker; printing, Evelyn Siler, chairman; social, Mary Sue Crocker, chairman, Dixie Campbell and Audrey Wyatt; business meetings, Betty Jo Crocker, chairman, and Jimmie Watts; meals, Rufina Bright, chairman, and Hazel Robertson; programs, Joy Woody, chairman, Mary Medford and Jimmie Watts; transportation, Patty McCracken, chairman, and Joy Woody; gifts, prize and favors, Mary Medford, chairman, Mary Sue Crocker and Helen Jewel Boyd; finance, Helen Jewel Boyd and Louise Gaddy; publicity, Patty McCracken, chairman, and Rufina Bright.

A workshop will be conducted at 10 a.m. by Miss Juanita Ramsey of Greensboro, Miss Margaret Shadwick of Winston-Salem, Miss Faye Kiser of Hickory, and Miss Katherine McGranahan of Durham. At 11 a.m. a panel discussion on Boys 4-H winners were announced last week by Cecil Wells, assistant county agent.

"Human Relations in the Office" will be held by John M. Barnes of Canton, industrial relations director of Champion Paper and Fibre Co.; Adm. W. N. Thomas of Lake Junaluska, and Mrs. Doyle D. Alley of Waynesville, secretary of the North Carolina Park, Parkway and Forest Development Commission.

David Felmet of Waynesville will be the principal speaker at a luncheon from 12 until 1:30 p.m., to be presided over by Miss Dixie Campbell. The invocation will be given by Rev. James H. Coleman.

In the afternoon a business session from 2 until 4:30 p.m. will include election of officers, amendments to the by-laws and reports of national committee members.

Afterwards, visiting delegates will be taken on a tour of the Waynesville area—including Maggie Valley, Mile High Overlook, and Lake Junaluska.

In the evening a banquet at 7 o'clock will feature installation of officers and a talk by R. C. Francis, entitled "As I See It From Here." Miss Louise Gaddy will preside over the luncheon and Miss Joy Woody will pronounce the invocation.

The main program will open Saturday morning at 9:30 and will include these events:

National anthem, invocation by Miss Betty Jo Crocker, welcome by Dr. Boyd Owen, president of the Chamber of Commerce; welcome by Miss Jimmie Watts, president of the Waynesville Secretaries chapter; response by Mrs. Juanita D. Lineberger of Gastonia, and introduction of state officers and other representatives.

SIGN OF THE TIMES—South Carolina, it seems, has never forgotten the tread of Yankee armies or the hardships of the post-war period. The Rock Hill Evening Herald pictorially finched when it saw a highway sign with the word "reconstruction". The newspaper printed a picture (left), of the sign and asked if it was a Yankee sign. The South Carolina Highway Department, with Rebel indignation, reacted promptly, substituting "RE" (right).

Kiwanis Club To Observe 2nd 'Birthday'

The Waynesville Kiwanis Club will celebrate its second anniversary Tuesday night with special ceremonies at the club's regular meeting at Spaldon's Drive-in.

At the meeting, attendance tabs will be presented to those members who have had perfect attendance records for the past two years. At the Kiwanis meeting this week, President-Elect Charles Underwood gave a report of the recent Carolina District convention at Columbia, S. C., Oct. 11-13. Hye Shepton, vice president-elect, gave a history of Columbia and cited excerpts from the speech of Senator George Smathers of Florida, who addressed the Kiwanis.

It was reported at the conven-

10 More Motorists Given Citations, And Passes to Fair

Ten more driving certificates, and passes to the State Fair were handed out this week by the Highway Patrol. The drivers were given the awards for following the rules of the road and the proper attitude toward highway safety.
