

Turkish Forester At Pisgah

Sometime next year Turkish people in the vicinity of a Mediterranean seaport in Asia Minor will begin hearing stories about the forests, mountains, and people of Western North Carolina.

Their speaker will be I. Jahit Yesilada, Turkish forester, who is now spending four weeks at the Pisgah Ranger Station in Pisgah National Forest studying American methods of forestry.

Mr. Yesilada visited Waynesville briefly on Wednesday, accompanied by a Pisgah forester, C. R. Brooks, and was interviewed in the offices of The Mountaineer.

He related that he had flown to the U. S. with 50 other Turkish foresters in September to study in this country for 10 months. Before coming to Pisgah Forest, he visited New York, Washington, Atlanta, the Bent Mountain Experiment Station near Asheville, and Coweeta Hydrological Lab near Franklin.

After he leaves this area, he will go on to Alexandria and New Orleans, La., Gulfport, Miss., to Utah where he will study in the School of Forestry at the University of Utah, and into the Rocky Mountains.

In his home city of Antalya, Turkey, Mr. Yesilada is a forestry supervisor, in charge of 13 rangers and 54 villages. He is married and has two children.

Forests in Turkey, he said, are similar to those in Western Carolina in that they contain a number of hardwoods and pines, but the species are different. One of the most used woods there is cedar, he added.

Mr. Yesilada said he learned to speak English while in high school on the island of Cyprus. Before coming to this country, he studied further in the Turkish capital of Ankara in a course given by the American-Turkish Association.

Asked about the United States, the visiting forester asserted that he was especially impressed by American hospitality, the excellent living conditions, and television.

shown by Haywood County 4-H and FFA members is good. Business firms and individuals are urged to attend the sale and support the boys and girls from Haywood County. This sale will afford a good opportunity for individuals wanting good quality beef for the freezer. Two or more individuals may consider purchasing one of these baby beves cooperatively for their freezers. This will not only give them good quality beef, but will help support the boys and girls who are carrying baby beves as a project. If any persons are interested in purchasing a calf cooperatively with someone else, he may get in touch with the county agent's office and work out arrangements for someone to purchase an animal for him in case he cannot be present at the sale.

Among the exhibitors will be these 4-H Club members:

Neal Allison and Billy Allison of East Pigeon, L. C. Frady of Cecil, R. E. Cathey and Iris Cathey of West Pigeon, Sammy Smathers and Johnny Coleman of Morning Star, Charles Ray Smith of Canton, Andy Boyd and Kay Boyd of Jonathan Creek, Don Calhoun of Waynesville, Jack W. Felmet of Ratcliffe Cove, and Dan K. Best of Upper Crabtree.

Livestock will also be entered by these FFA boys:

Thad Medford, Edwin Bryson, Harley Caldwell and Roger McElroy, all of Iron Duff, Billy Kirkpatrick, George Kirkpatrick, and Boyd Fisher, all of Crabtree; Louis Trull, Route 3, Canton; Guy Messer, Route 2, Canton; Doyle Brown, Route 1, Clyde; Don Calhoun, Route 3, Waynesville; Bill McCracken, Bill Gaddy, Keith Leatherwood and James Howell.

Of special interest during this special week is the announcement of six new volunteer leaders for two intermediate troops and one Brownie troop at the Hazelwood Elementary School which have not been functioning on account of lack of leadership. The new leaders for the intermediate troops are Miss Kathryn Bell, Miss Sue Crocker, Miss Ann Bischoff and Miss Viola Mae Taylor. Mrs. Clyde Fisher and Mrs. Millard Balance will have the Brownie troop.

of the Clyde Baptist Church, and Rev. R. P. McCracken, Jarvis Allison, Orville Haynes, Joe Schuler, Vinson Haynes, Roy Haynes, Thurman Haynes, Hezzie Jones, Ed Fincher, Ray Morgan, Carter Osborne, Edwin Haynes, Bill Byers, Carey Byers, John Smith, Dr. J. L. Reeves, Dr. Julian Moore and Ernest Rogers.

Granddaughters will serve as flower girls.

Mr. Haynes retired as a farmer in Clyde township about a year ago, when ill health forced him to curtail an active life. He was a native of Clyde.

His father was the late Will J. Haynes, a sheriff of Haywood county.

The deceased served two terms as register of deeds of Haywood, from 1909 to 1917. He re-entered politics in the late 20's and was elected as a member of the board of commissioners. He was a member of the board when the present court house was erected. Later he served on various farm group committees during the mid thirties, and in the early days of World War II.

A strong advocate of better schools, he served several terms as school committeeman of the Clyde Township school district.

Mr. Haynes was a life-long member of the Clyde Baptist church, and served as a deacon, and Sunday School teacher. He was a deacon emeritus at the time of his death.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nancy Patton Haynes; four daughters, Mrs. W. H. Burgin and Mrs. Homer Owen of Waynesville, Mrs. Kyle Campbell of Hazelwood, S. C.; and one son, Erwin Haynes, Texas; also the widow of another son, Mrs. Hugh Haynes of Clyde; two brothers, Jarvis Haynes of Biltmore and Lush Haynes of Waynesville; 21 grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Hassie Henson of Canton, Mrs. Roberta Stephenson of San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Laura Horton of Raleigh and Mrs. Claude Holtzclow of Canton.

Arrangements are under direction of Wells Funeral Home of Canton.

the mass meeting held on the 21st, when Harry Buchanan, highway commissioner for the 14th district, and R. Getty Browning, chief locating engineer of the state department, made a report to Canton officials and civic leaders relative to the proposed through-highway, which would require an 850-foot viaduct from Bridge Street to a point parallel to the Southern tracks back of the new Library, and also a high bridge across Pigeon River, and connecting with the new four-lane highway in West Canton.

Engineers estimate the complete project will cost about $1,400,000. The viaduct would cost $700 per foot, the engineers said.

gallons a minute, under 70 pounds of pressure, through a three-inch line. For a radiator he used a 55-gallon drum, fed by a steady stream of cold water. He had the motor geared low, and let it run for 12 to 14 hours at a time.

Since he did not have a single wetting rain on his bury, which is tended by George "Buddy" Glance, he turned the irrigation system on the crop, which was set out between June 20 and July fourth. By the time the crop was topped, it was 6 1/2 feet high.

Not only did the shrubs and bury get thorough wettings of Pigeon river water, but also 1.5 of an acre of corn. And from this patch of corn, was gathered 1,540 dozen ears for the green market. The corn was soaked four times—once to get it up, and three times later.

Mr. Weaver took from 12 to 13 hours to water one acre.

As the drought became more acute, and the water in Pigeon River got lower, he was concerned more than ever. All the water in the river was then going directly through Champion Fibre mill, which means that the water was mixed with chemicals.

"I did not know what affect it might have on the plants, but I figured it was wet, so continued with the project."

"All the stuff lived, got greener, and grew,—even thrived—so that made me mighty happy," he continued. "I was not bothered too much from insects, either."

Anyone in question about the value of irrigation, need only to consult Mr. Weaver.

His cheerful answer will be: "It saved everything I had in the nursery, and it gave me my best crop of burley and corn. Guess that is reason enough to be sold on the idea, and especially when you build the system yourself, like I did."

The rabies clinic at Messer's store was well attended Wednesday afternoon when a large group of the dog owners in this section brought their pets for inoculation as the mad dog recently killed was reportedly seen in the Sunburst area last week.

The annual Halloween Carnival sponsored by the Bethel PTA will be held at the school Friday evening, Oct. 30. Funds raised are used for various necessary school improvements, and it is hoped there will be a good group attending.

The family of Lee Birchfield, who was 79 years old October 23, gathered Sunday in celebration of the event. He has 11 children, 56 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren. Mr. Birchfield was the first man to cut a log for the Champion Paper and Fibre Company.

Six of his children were present for Sunday's affair: Mrs. Arthur Warren, Rt. 3, Canton; Mrs. Jack Sorrells, Canton; Mrs. Bill Sorrells, Franklin; Dieve Birchfield, Cruso; Lawrence Birchfield, Rt. 2; and Mrs. J. Paul Cooke, Rt. 3. Grandchildren included Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ammons, Dutch Cove; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ray, Dutch Cove; Mrs. Remon Fouts, Sylva; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Warren, Beaverdam; Roy and Earl Warren, Rt. 3; Betty Sue and Anna Lee Sorrells, Canton; Ronnie and Michael Birchfield, Cruso; Chester, Nancy Lois and Joyce Sorrells, Franklin; Jimmy Lewis and Gary Cooke, Rt. 3, Canton. The great-grandchildren present were Bobby and Patsy Ammons, Dutch Cove; and Eugene Worley, Beaverdam.

A Music Appreciation Record Library for the Bethel school district is being sponsored by the school PTA and under the direction of the Music Chairman, Mrs. J. Edgar Burnette. A substantial donation has been promised the fund by a civic-minded organization with a sincere "thank you" from the committee.

The Achievement Day committee of the Cecil Home Demonstration Club will meet Friday at 1:30 p.m. with Mrs. James Reeves. The group includes Mrs. Coy Pressley, Mrs. Grover Warren, Mrs. Lockie Grooms, Mrs. J. M. Burnette and Mrs. J. Edgar Burnette.

A workshop on shuck tawling and decorating wooden plates will be held by the club members next Thursday, November 5, at 9:30 a.m., with Mrs. Grover Warren as hostess. Bring sandwiches, please. Mrs. Burnette and Mrs. Alonzo Warren are crafts leaders for the workshop.

A film strip on "Foreign Missions Work in Nigeria by Southern Baptists" was shown Tuesday night by the Rev. Elmer Greene, Haywood County Baptist. Missionary, to a capacity audience. It was interesting to learn of the work done among the lepers in addition to the schools, clinics and orphanage.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Queen moved into the log cabin near the Friendly House last week.

Lewis Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Cooke, has been quite ill at his home recently suffering from tonsillitis.

Mrs. Sarah Caldwell has also been on the sick list. Mr. Henry Caldwell is reportedly somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Birchfield had as their guests last week-end, the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cagle of Del Rio, Tenn.

Mrs. Glenn Parris returned home Tuesday from Davenport, Iowa, where she visited relatives for two weeks.

Mrs. Edith Dills, of Fairview, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Eliza Birchfield, who has been ill recently.

Glenn Parris and his partners on a bear hunt got their bear on Greens Creek last week. Any steaks left over, Glenn?

Chester Sorrells, son of the Rev. and Mrs. William Sorrells, formerly of this section, suffered a fractured knee last week while boarding his school bus. He is a student at Franklin High School. We wish him a speedy recovery.

The Rev. Marvin Mann will continue to be under treatment at the Oak Ridge Hospital in Tennessee for a time. An operation is now planned. Mrs. Mann spent several days last week with her husband there.

Plant life being protected in Acadia National Park in Maine ultimately will represent a botanic garden of the entire Acadian region.
