construction of a modern hotel here.

Mark Kirkpatrick, a member of the county school board, discussed the progress of the building program made possible by Haywood's two million-dollar school bond issue. He warned, however, that because of the rapid increase in the county population, still more facilities will be badly needed by the time the present ones are completed.

Explaining that this area's capacity to produce agricultural products exceeds the capacity to consume, Charles Edwards said that the size of the county's farms should be increased. This could be accomplished, he pointed out, in a number of ways, including development of poultry raising and fruit growing.

Rev. Don Payne told Kiwanians that Haywood County is "way behind" other counties in the state in church construction and in per capita contributions to the church. He said that the county needs (1) a more enlightened and better-trained clergy, and (2) a more enlightened, more willing, and more responsive laity.

"We cannot be a progressive community," he continued, "until our laymen are more responsive not only to ministerial appeals, but also to the natural and moral appeal of the church itself."

In the field of government, our greatest need, according to Oral L. Yates, is "to encourage more God-fearing people to enter politics."

The evening's program was arranged by Charles Underwood, president-elect of the Kiwanis Club.

Induction ceremonies also were conducted by Hooper Alexander, Jr. for a new Kiwanis member, Bob Conway, a Mountaineer reporter.

office she came in contact with practically every citizen of the county and won the admiration and affection of all.

Mrs. McCracken performed all the routine jobs of a public office and went beyond to render many kindnesses to those who visited her.

Mrs. McCracken was an active member of the First Methodist and the Wesleyan Guild of the Church. She was a member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Waynesville Woman's Club.

Mr. McCracken, a teacher in the Waynesville schools, died in 1946.

Funeral services will be held in the First Methodist Church tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. with the pastor, the Rev. Earl H. Brendall, officiating.

Nephews will serve as active pallbearers and nieces will be flower bearers.

Honorary pallbearers will be Dr. Thomas Stringfield, Dr. James K. Stringfield, Dr. N. M. Medford, Bryan Medford, and the Haywood County officials.

Mrs. McCracken is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Carl Hagan and Miss Martha McCracken of Sylvania, Ga., Mrs. Tommy Murray of Hampton, Va., and Miss Elizabeth McCracken of the home. Also one son, Harry F. McCracken of Clyde, Route 1; two grandchildren, Edward and Harriett Hagan; three sisters, Mrs. R. P. McCracken and Mrs. R. C. Long of Lake Junaluska, and Mrs. R. L. Hoke of Oswego, N. Y.; and two brothers, C. F. Kirkpatrick of Waynesville and the Rev. C. S. Kirkpatrick of Durham. Another brother, the late Dr. W. L. Kirkpatrick, died about four years ago.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Wells Funeral Home, Canton.

White Cane Drive (Clyde), Christmas Cheer Fund (Dime Board), and the Canton School Band Council.

Among items in the budget will be an emergency fund of $5,000, the use of which will be controlled by a majority vote of the board of directors of the fund.

Headquarters of the United Fund are situated in the Chamber of Commerce building in Canton.

As the drive opened in Clyde, employees of the Cagle Furniture Co. became the first 100-per-cent contributors in that community.

At Bethel, Southern Schools, Inc. headed the 100-per-cent list. Reynolds High School at Canton is the first school to achieve the 100-per-cent goal.

again at 2 a. m. and was not brought under control finally until daylight. Owners of the property involved are Hugh Ratcliffe, Elmer Bryson and one other man not named.

Mr. Caldwell blamed a careless hunter for this fire.

Some 10 acres were burned over by a blaze at White Oak, which started Tuesday and continued to require the attention of fire fighters on Wednesday morning. The owner of the property was identified as Mr. Jenkins.

Commenting on other fires in the county, Mr. Caldwell said those reported in the East Fork area apparently were started by a "firebug." He added that a fire on Rokey Knob last week may have been set by a convict who escaped from a road gang in the Crabtree area, but was later recaptured.

The forest ranger said that no more brush burning permits will be issued until Gov. Umstead's order closing Western North Carolina forests is lifted.

Mr. Caldwell emphasized that the state law, which gives the governor the right to close forests when drought conditions prevail, also prohibits the starting of fires within 500 feet of forest areas.

Poached or soft- or hard-cooked eggs should be served on a reducing diet rather than eggs that are scrambled or fried in butter or margarine.

Several groups have discussed the proposal, but it was the Chamber of Commerce that took initial action and set up the mass meeting to discuss the proposal," he said. "About 100 interested people attended the meeting, and showed lots of enthusiasm."

Dr. Matthews explained the details of setting up the campaign, getting a charter, and the general organization.

"Next year we believe we will have about 20 agencies participating in the United Fund Drive," he said.

Individuals are being asked to give a minimum of one dollar per month for a year. Some towns are asking an hour's pay per month for a year.

Dr. Matthews volunteered to come up and meet with any group, and to open their files for all material used in setting up the United Fund Drive in Canton. "We like the idea, find it practical in many ways, and heartily recommend it to the citizens of the Waynesville area."

MORE ABOUT Massie

Massie reported that the towns of Waynesville and Hazelwood are "cooperating fully in a project to correct the problem of sewerage disposal which led to the closing of the lake last summer for swimming." He said that new equipment now in use will enable the sewer lines to be thoroughly cleaned out, and that overflows into Lake Junaluska tributaries are to be eliminated. He said he believes the lake will be approved for swimming next summer.

MORE ABOUT Lake Junaluska

Lake Junaluska's 1954 season will be open June 1 and run through September 15. Superintendent Fowler announced.

The summer agenda of conferences, training schools, leadership workshops and special events will start with the traditional "Haywood County Day" on June 6.

College students of 12 states are scheduled to meet at the lake June 18-19 under auspices of the Methodist Student Movement. A series of Western North Carolina youth assemblies is set for June 17-July 3. A southeastern youth conference is planned for July 22-29.

Methodist women have scheduled three meetings. Annual sessions of the WNC Woman's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guild are to be held June 16-21, followed by a nine-state conference of the WSCS and WSG July 2-4, and the groups' annual missions conference, July 15-21.

An eminent British churchman, the Rev. Dr. W. E. Sangster, has been engaged to preach during the annual Candler camp meeting, August 8-15. Dr. Clark said that a second British clergyman of renown, Dr. Leslie Weatherhead, is tentatively booked for a sermon series June 21-27.

Other program highlights will include a Bible conference June 27-July 3, a missionary conference July 15-21, a town and country conference July 21-26, a conference of pastors and district superintendents July 26-30, an institute for superintendents and house parents of Methodist children's homes August 8-13, a leadership school for Sunday school workers August 2-13, a conference of local church chairmen of missions' commissions August 13-15, a meeting of the church's southeastern Board of Hospitals and Homes August 16-18, a Southwide laymen's conference August 19-22, a conference on urban church life August 16-19, a convocation of supply pastors August 22-29, and a layman's spiritual life retreat September 3-5.

Music concerts are to be scheduled throughout the summer as Saturday night features, and the annual music week is set for August 2-7 under the supervision of Prof. Cyrus Daniel, director of music at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

The Rev. James W. Fowler, Jr., formerly of Forest City, was confirmed by the board as the assembly's new superintendent, and elected treasurer. He was elected to the superintendency in September by the board's executive committee and appointed by Bishop Costen J. Harrell of Charlotte, vice chairman of the board.

The Rev. Mr. Fowler outlined plans for the operation of the assembly, "dedicated to Christian education, fellowship, spiritual guidance and recreation at every point," and expressed his gratitude to the residents of Lake Junaluska and Waynesville for the "cordial welcome and cooperation" he and Mrs. Fowler have received since moving to the lake.

Alumni List Denied Scott

Former Gov. W. Kerr Scott said his recent request for the names of secretaries of the various alumni classes at North Carolina State College was turned down.

"They just haven't given it to me," Scott said in answer to questions. "I made the request at the suggestion of some of the people at the college."

Although he has not formally announced, Scott is considered by many as a candidate for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Alton A. Lennon of Wilmington.

After his request was turned down, Scott wrote a letter to Dean Emeritus J. O. Schaub, with copies of other state college alumni leaders and officials. Scott himself is a State College graduate.

In his letter Scott said if he is elected to the Senate the college "likely will pressure me for many considerations—and, whether they help me or not, I will go ahead and do the best I can." The former governor also stated in the letter, "I feel very confident that if I do run for the Senate I will be elected."

Speeding Patrolman Is Fired

A State Highway patrolman has been fired for speeding 92 miles an hour in a patrol car, not in line of duty.

Col. James R. Smith, patrol commander, reported that B. E. Samples of Skyland will face a charge of speeding. Samples has been with the patrol since 1951.

Smith said Samples admitted speeding 92 miles an hour on U. S. 19 near Asheville last month. He was not pursuing a law violator or answering an emergency call, Smith added. On another occasion Samples admitted, he had speeded through Candler at from 75 to 80 miles an hour the night of Oct. 26.

The patrol chief said that at the time Samples was speeding 92 miles an hour he was chased by another patrolman who was unaware the speeding vehicle was a Highway Patrol auto.

Prisoner Hangs Self In Jail

L. T. Stancill, Jr., 33, former Greenville filling station operator was found hanged in city jail Monday night. The body was suspended from a cell ventilator by strips of torn shirting.

Stancill had been locked up half an hour earlier on a charge of public drunkenness preferred by his mother, Dr. S. M. Crisp, a physician sent to the jail by the mother, and Policemen C. D. Doss discovered the body.

Caudle To Appear Before Senate Committee

A weary, reluctant Lamar Caudle has been subpoenaed for a hearing Thursday before a Senate Committee investigating spy charges.

Caudle, former assistant Attorney General, confirmed that he had seen an FBI report on the late Harry Dexter White, identified by Elizabeth Bentley as a Communist agent.

Caudle expressed a reluctance to appear before the Senate Committee and said he asked to be excused but was refused.

"I think they'll be through with me in about an hour," Caudle said. "But it looks to me now that, off and on, I'll be testifying on one thing or another for the rest of my life."

Caudle will appear on the television program on Sunday.

Caudle made no attempt to conceal his relief at the statement of Gov. James Byrnes, revealing that he had called the attention of President Truman to the White case after the FBI report.

Scott Says Co-Ops Threatened

A move is to kill all cooperatives, former Gov. W. Kerr Scott warned some 1,200 members of the Tri-County Electric Membership Corporation at a meeting at Goldsboro High School.

Charging that "we've got some people among our leaders, right here in North Carolina helping to bring it about," Scott said he was "speaking advisedly" with the full realization that he might someday be back in public office.

Scott said the fight against cooperatives "is more serious than many of us think," that leaders favoring private enterprises are referring to cooperatives as "reversing socialism" and would "sell us down the river if they get the chance."

Baptists Study 4-Billion Dollar Projects

A resolution calling for a 4-million-dollar loan for buildings today was expected to be passed by the annual State Baptist Convention in Greensboro.

The loan was recommended by the Resolutions Committee to the convention last night. It passed the first reading with only one dissenting vote. The convention constitution calls for two readings.

Twelve other recommendations offered by the General Board were expected to occupy the record 2,078 messengers attending the meetings at the First Baptist Church. They include the establishment of a $2,435,000 cooperative program goal for 1954, an amendment to the minister's retirement annuity to $900, and indorsement of the "Million More for Fifty-Four" program.

The 4-million-dollar loan would be used for the construction or purchase of new buildings. This includes a new headquarters for the convention at Raleigh, $475,000; a student center at North Carolina State College, $450,000; a dormitory at Mars Hill College, $250,000; dormitory or dormitories at Campbell College, $200,000, and 3 million dollars for construction at Wake Forest College.
