

Congressional Club Offers Special Treats For Menfolk

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — When the members of the Congressional Club invite their congressmen husbands to their big parties, Mrs. Louise D. Towers, resident manager, whips up special treats for the menfolk.

"Men do get awfully hungry waiting for dinner," she told me. "They've probably had an early lunch. It's too early to have a full-sized dinner and they don't want sweets, so I give them little hot bite-size sandwich things that will satisfy them but not spoil their appetites." She says men like simple foods, tiny meat pies and sandwiches, little pastry puffs with lobster filling, finger rolls with chicken salad.

"Men are funny things. They may not know what they are eating, but they know what they like, she observes.

Mrs. Towers had an extra big job planning and overseeing the preparation of the elegant buffet spread for the capital's top notables when the club gave a reception for President and Mrs. Eisenhower re-

BOOKS FROM YOUR LIBRARY Show You That ART Is For EVERYONE

Yes, today we have made a new-old discovery—that art is for everyone. Of course, art is older than civilization itself; people were painting and drawing before they learned to read and write. But it has only been in comparatively recent times—the twentieth century, in fact—that we realized at last that art can enrich the daily lives of everyone of us. We know now that art is no longer just for the person with special talents and abilities. These days, we can all see that art is a practical and functional, as well as enjoyable, part of our experience.

Art enriches life, develops the sensibilities and the power of observation, and serves as an emotional outlet. Through it we discover color, design, material creation and imaginative expression.

And art in everyday life is found everywhere—in the home, in business, in the accessories we use and the clothes we wear. It is only a matter of recognizing, seeing, appreciating and enjoying it.

Books are a vital part of showing us all that art is for everyone. Many of us have had a longing to understand more, but have not known where to begin, or how to go about it. Your library has books about art history, art appreciation, the lives of famous artists, the history of famous paintings, and books about modern art. Ask your librarian to help you choose books, about art that will increase your understanding and appreciation.

At sometime everyone of us has looked at a beautiful picture and said, "I wish I could paint like that!" It would be fun at least to try! Many of the world's greatest artists have had no formal training. They just began to paint. Your library has books that will tell you how to begin painting, what materials to buy, and how to use them. These books can be borrowed without charge from your library.

Whatever your interest in art, whether recognizing, seeing, appreciating or enjoying doing it, your cently. She offered a dozen or more little sandwiches; miniature pies; and chewy "but not gooey" sweetbreads; her own "Crown Jewels," a kind-of shortbread pastry with nuts and cherry filling, and a new delicacy. "It's a Latvian wedding specialty—a meat-filled pastry," she confided. "It's of Mrs. Thor C. Tollafsen's (wife of the Republican congressman from Washington) secret recipe. I swapped one of my pets—a recipe for stuffed lobster tails—for it."

Mrs. Towers, widow of a Washington electrical estimator, says she "sort of fell into the job" of manager of the Congressional Club's eats department with a staff of two maids, two housemen and a cook. All her life she has been fond of cooking. Her son, Richard, now married and father of a six-month old heir, used to invite as many as 20 to 40 youngsters to the house for parties frequently, she says.

Mrs. Towers plans and oversees preparation of all the Congressional Club's monthly buffet suppers, private parties, formal Thursday luncheons and Friday teas, as well as all their big receptions such as the ones for the President and First Lady, new members of Congress, the vice president, chief justice and the speaker.

MIDGET CAR IN MIGHTY TUMBLE

MIDGET CAR DRIVER Colby Scroggins miraculously escaped serious injury when his car flipped completely over on the track at Gardena, Calif. At top, Scroggins (33) collides with Chuck Fink in No. 97, as he gets caught in a jam. Center, Scroggins' car rolls over at right angles to the track. At bottom, the car takes a final tumble while Scroggins held securely by safety belt. (International Soundphoto)

Danger At The Curb

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Cars parked on streets are often hit—but seldom does this happen in one night.

The Vernon Millers of Grand Island left their pickup truck parked in front of their home while they went visiting. A hit-run driver smashed it up. The Millers came home and parked the family car in front of the house. Then another hit-run driver smashed up the car.

Installation Conscience

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—An unidentified thief has been repaying Jewel Chastain, manager of a service station, here, on the installment plan. Chastain has received three "payments" from the conscience-stricken individual who claims to have taken $85 from the station's cash register in February, 1949.

All three letters, unsigned, have carried Omaha postmarks. The latest remittance was for $55 and apparently cleaned up the debt.

"I really appreciate his sending it back, and I want him to know it."

One Sided Games

CARTHAGE, N. C. (AP) — A woman witness in Recorder's Court was charged with assault with a deadly weapon—a stove lid. Scene of the affray was a night spot, well known to police.

"And what were all of you doing when the fight began," asked County Solicitor W. Lamont Brown?

"We was playing syndicated games," the woman said. She explained: "Syndicated games is where there's three or four against one. That's what we was playing — everybody against me, and I had to do the best I could."

HARLAN DONS HIGH COURT ROBE

JUSTICE JOHN MARSHALL HARLAN, of New York, is helped into his judicial robe by a Supreme Court aide after taking two solemn oaths in Washington as the 89th American lawyer to attain the pinnacle of his profession. The first, or Constitutional oath, was administered by Chief Justice Earl Warren. The second is the judicial one. Harlan succeeds the late Justice Robert Jackson. (International)

Big news about

Buick's 4-Door Riviera

THIS brand-new kind of automobile—the sensation of all the Auto Shows this year—is now rolling off the Buick assembly lines in volume numbers. That's the first news.

And the second is just as wonderful — this dramatic new model is very definitely everything that eager buyers hoped it would be.

For the 4-Door Riviera is the first "hardtop" ever available with separate doors for rear-seat passengers—plus full sedan room in the rear.

It comes breezing in with all the low-lined sweep and wide open visibility of Buick's original 2-Door Riviera—and luxurious new spaciousness in its full-length 4-door body.

With windows down, no posts appear for the rear doors, and you get a completely unobstructed view at both sides.

You find rear doors hinged at front edges to swing wide and free, and assure easy entrance and exit.

And you'll find legroom, headroom and hip-room extra-generous both front and rear—with interiors tailored in fabrics and patterns specially reserved for the 4-Door Riviera.

Best of all, this new Buick beauty comes off the line in both the low-price SPECIAL Series and the high-powered CENTURY Series.

So you can pick your 4-Door Riviera with the potent performance of a 188-hp or 236-hp Buick V8 engine—the swift getaway and gas saving of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* — the velvet stride of the Million Dollar Ride—the long list of Buick bonus features at no extra cost—and all at "great buy" prices that have helped move Buick into America's "Big Three" of best sellers.

But—come see us about the 4-Door Riviera now.

With all-out production—and a prompt order — this newest excitement in cars will be yours that much sooner.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.
