Radio Series Is Sponsored By Episcopal Group

"Another Chance," is a series of 13 weekly dramatic radio programs which started Saturday, October 22, at 10:15 a.m. over WHCC, Waynesville, and some 200 other stations throughout the country. These 15-minute dramatic skits, built around real family life experiences combining top dramatic talent with practical advice firmly rooted in religion and psychology, are sponsored locally by the Woman's Auxiliary of Grace Episcopal Church.

Peggy Wood, star of stage, screen, beloved "Mama" of TV's popular show, plays the lead in each of the 13 stories. Her parts run the gamut from a 20-year-old girl about to "marry in panic" to a refugee who is in danger of being "run out of town".

Co-star and advisor to the program is Cynthia Wedel, only representative of American women on World Council of Churches, prominent Episcopal leader, and a Ph. D. in Psychology.

Purpose of the program is to help solve the problems and pressures of everyday living through the Gospel of Jesus Christ and to reach families who are otherwise unchurched.

Experiment Station at 9:30 a.m. and at the Leland Garnett Farm at Jonathan Creek at 2 p.m.

Farmers who have tobacco which presents a problem in sorting are invited to bring several stalks to the demonstration for advice from R. R. Bennett, extension tobacco specialist, or J. W. Van Arsdall, government grader.

Four Tobacco Demonstrations Set This Week

Four tobacco sorting and stripping demonstrations will be held in Haywood County this week, according to Virgil L. Holloway, county farm agent.

One will be held at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the FFA room at Clyde High School and another at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Mark Ferguson's store at Fines Creek.

On Thursday a demonstration will be held at the Mountain Ex-
