Duff, and Mrs. Walter Rhodarmar of South Clyde. This committee will meet at 7 p.m. Monday and then make a report to the CDP officials at the regular meeting at 7:30.

The garbage disposal committee includes R. L. Justice of West Pigeon, chairman; W. W. Rowland of Saunook, Bill Hembree of Allen's Creek, Lloyd Justice of South Clyde, and Sherrill Jimison of Thickety.

On the rural fire protection committee are Fred Setzer of Morning Star, chairman; Edwin Jackson of South Clyde, and Hugh Ratcliffe of Ratcliffe Cove.

The last two committees will not make a report at the meeting Monday night, but both garbage disposal and fire protection will be discussed.

Communities planning to enter teams in the annual CDP basketball tournament are urged to send representatives to the meeting to assist in making up tournament pairings and plans for the event.

MORE ABOUT Robinson

Newton.
Robinson is a native of Haywood County and graduated from Canton High School. He attended Mars Hill College one year and graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1951 with an AB degree in journalism. He took some post-graduate work in education at Western Carolina College before entering service.

While at Fort Jackson, S. C., Robinson served as Information and Education Specialist for the 13th Infantry Regiment where many Haywood County boys took basic training. An additional duty was Safety NCO for the Regiment and here he did his first work in safety.

Robinson was released from service in 1954 and again attended WCC for six weeks.

Senator Ervin Says Guilty Officials Should Be Exposed

WASHINGTON—It is not necessary for me to tell you that lobbying has occupied the news picture from the Capitol this past week.

LOBBYING

I voted for the enlarged select committee of the Senate to carry on a full-scale investigation of all types of lobbying as I think legislative bodies should be like Caesar's wife, above suspicion. It has been my privilege to serve North Carolina in its General Assembly, the House of Representatives in Washington, and now as United States Senator. During all this time I have never had any reason to believe that any member of these bodies had been corrupt or had been influenced in any way by improper practices. If there is anything like this going on, it should be exposed. Members of legislative bodies are besieged by high pressure organizations, but the Constitution gives the people a right to petition their representatives, and I assure all North Carolinians that they have the Constitutional right to give me the benefit of their views on public matters.

THE COMMITTEE

This committee which we created in the Senate will have a highly important function. Its members will have very little time to do anything else, but they will be rendering our country a distinguished service if the entire area of lobbying is fairly and thoroughly investigated. Again, there can be no partiality in this probe. The Senate will back the committee to the fullest. It has a clear field.

BRIEFING

For several days now I have been attending meetings of the Senate Armed Service Committee to hear briefing by high officials of our Defense Department. This review of our defense situation has further strengthened the opinion, which I share with Senator Russell, that appropriations for our Air Force have been reduced too drastically. It is urgent for our survival that appropriations be immediately increased by at least 1 1/2 billion dollars. Our potential enemies are moving with lightning speed in their ability to deliver a knock-out blow to this country. Our lead time must be maintained.

FARM BILL

We are now debating the farm bill. It will take several days, and I cannot predict in what form the bill will come out of the debate. There are numerous amendments to be acted upon before final passage.

NORTH CAROLINA EMBASSY

Last week an amusing incident happened. In the first mail of the day (there are four mail deliveries)

Wardrobe Proves Poor Hideaway For Wanted Man

Sheriff Fred Campbell and Deputy Gene Howell have seen people use all sorts of different hiding places, but they encountered a new one last night.

Calling at the residence of Carl Thomas Howell, 59, of Waynesville, wanted on a two-year charge of driving drunk after his license was revoked, Sheriff Campbell and Deputy Howell knocked at the door, but no one came to open it.

Finally the sheriff called to the wanted man's wife, who came and admitted the two officers. After an extensive search of the premises, the searchers were rewarded when they found Howell crouched down in a clothing wardrobe.

The charge against him was made two years ago by Cpl. Pritchard H. Smith of the State Highway Patrol and Chief Roy Stephens of the Hazelwood police.

ed routinely, instead of daily. Thermometers must be used to insure water hot enough to sterilize equipment.

Dishwashing machines must be cleaned, and must be equipped and operated in accordance with NSF standards.

There must be facilities for cleaning garbage cans.

Perishable foods must be stored below 50 degrees or above 143 degrees for safe protection.

A permit is required where shell fish are used. Only pasteurized milk can be used, and this must be served in original container or from an approved bulk dispenser.

Premises must be kept clean at all times. Representing Haywood County were sanitarians Bill Milner and Jack Arrington.

Other counties represented were Buncombe, Cherokee, Henderson, McDowell, Jackson, Swain, Macon, Yancey, Mitchell, Avery, Graham, Transylvania, Madison and Polk.

Rain

for the month of February is 4.04 inches—3.77 inches below last month's total.

February rainfall for the last five years was: 1951, 2.41 inches; 1952, 1.94 inches; 1953, 4.77 inches; 1954, 2.12 inches, and 1955, 1.46 inches.

I received a kind letter from a Michigan young lady who desired information about North Carolina. What makes the letter worth mentioning here is the way it was addressed. On the envelope was written "North Carolina Embassy, Washington, D. C." Postmen delivered it to me, and I supplied the information requested. Wonder if this was a Yankee trick? As we know, certain Northerners have been trying to reconstruct North Carolina and the other Southern states as provinces of the United States, but I hadn't conceived that anybody would consider North Carolina foreign country until I got the letter addressed to the North Carolina Embassy.

"FIVE DOLLARS! Why I can take him to a real barber for a dollar and a half!"

170,000 Tar Heel Workers To Receive Wage Boost

At least 170,000 North Carolina workers will receive pay increases on Thursday, March 1, when the legal minimum wage under the Federal Wage and Hour Law is boosted from 75 cents to $1.00 an hour.

State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane today conservatively estimated that not less than 28 per cent and perhaps more, of the 600,000 workers covered by the Wage-Hour Law in North Carolina will receive direct pay increases as a result of the $1.00 minimum. Some 35,100 textile workers — or about 15 per cent of the 234,000 employees in the State's huge textile industry — will receive increases, Commissioner Crane said. A large proportion of the textile workers affected are employed in seamless hosiery and cotton yarn and thread mills.

Next largest group of workers to be affected, said Crane, is employed in the lumber industry. About 22,080 workers in sawmills and planing mills — or 80 per cent of the total of 27,600 workers employed in those operations — will receive increases.

Some 16,200 furniture workers will receive pay hikes. The Tar Heel household furniture industry employs currently about 33,100 workers, of whom 49 per cent will be affected by the $1.00 minimum.

Indians Interest Many Citizens

There's a new wave of interest in North Carolina Indians.

So many inquiries are being received from all over the country by the State Advertising Division, that it has compiled a special information Bulletin entitled "Indians in North Carolina". It contains a brief story on the Cherokees, the only tribe in the State living on a government administered reservation, and other tribes. It also lists the names of books and other sources of reference on North Carolina Indians. The publication may be obtained free upon request to the State Advertising Division, Dept. Conservation & Development, Raleigh.

making every effort to keep races from taking place, and will make arrests in all such cases.

Cpl. Pritchard Smith said not many people knew of the law which had the provision that persons guilty of racing "shall be punished by fine of not less than $50, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both."

The ministers of Haywood are working with the program, along with school authorities, all officers, press and radio.

Those attending today's meeting included: Cpl. Smith, of the Highway patrol; Gene Howell, chief deputy sheriff; Kenneth Fry, WHCC; Ned J. Tucker, executive vice president, Chamber of Commerce, also R. L. Bradley, president of that organization; M. H. Bowles, district superintendent of schools; Rev. J. G. Goodwin, Jr., secretary of the Haywood Ministerial Association; Lawrence Leatherwood, superintendent of Haywood schools.

J. B. Siler, judge of juvenile court, C. T. McCuiston, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce civic and professional group; Chief Orville Noland of Waynesville; Chief Roy Stevens of Hazelwood; Carl Setzer, Haywood school attendance officer, and W. C. Russ, editor of The Mountaineer.

Mr. McCuiston is acting as coordinator of all agencies to attend the meeting Tuesday night. The Chamber of Commerce office is being used as headquarters. Cpl. Smith will be in charge of the program.

About three out of every 10 drivers involved in fatal accidents during 1954 were violating a speed law, says the National Safety Council.
