MORE ABOUT Polio Clinic

Public Health Service has recommended that county health departments use their vaccine in giving as many first and second shots as possible before trying to give the third and final shot in the Salk series.

Two shots give children "excellent immunity," according to federal health officials.

Parents who wish to have their children get the third shot of polio vaccine are asked to have the inoculations administered in the office of their family doctor, who has adequate quantities of the vaccine.

Mrs. Bryson said that approximately 900 first and second shots of polio vaccine have been given at the Health Center in the past six weeks. Last week, she said, some 260 children were inoculated, she added.

Mrs. Bryson explained that all persons between the ages of six months and 20 years of age are eligible to receive the vaccine, but younger children will be given preference.

how new plants are brought to a community. We have some encouraging prospects which we are in contact with right now.

"The recent publication of the industrial booklet about this area is one of the necessary things we had to have in order to get our story across to potential industrialists to come here.

"All our efforts will not be devoted just to seeking new plants. In fact, our first responsibility is to work with those industries which are already here, and show them our interest in them and their continued success.

"On two occasions, and perhaps more, we have been a means of working with local plants in some major programs, each of which has meant the addition of more people on their payrolls.

"Our sole purpose for being organized is to help Haywood county become an even better place to work and live. And to that program, every member is giving his time and energy to see that the program succeeds." Allen concluded.

He served first as director of claims and safety, and became manager of the Richmond division in 1947. In 1950 he was elected vice president and manager. He is a member of the board of both the Virginia Transit Company and The Portsmouth Transit Company.

"We wish him the best of luck," said VTC President Warren R. Pollard. "He has done a wonderfully fine job for us, and we hate to lose him."

"I've been right busy with community things," Davis said, "simply because I was asked and never learned to say 'N' to such requests.

"He is a member of the boards of directors of the Community Chest, the Tobacco Festival, Retreat for the Sick Hospital, Occupational Therapy Workshop, Richmond Safety Council, Central Richmond Association, Richmond Better Business Bureau, and Richmond Chamber of Commerce.

"He is chairman of the West End Recreation and Parks study committee, and of Council's Traffic Advisory Committee.
