Senator Scott Asking For Uniform Parcel Post Plan

By BILL WHITLEY

PARCEL POST. Sen. W. Kerr Scott has asked for early hearings on a bill he introduced last week that would establish uniform weights and sizes for packages mailed through parcel post.

In introducing the bill, Scott said "both the farm and urban people in North Carolina have been hurt by the size and weight limitations law enacted in 1951."

Under present law, the sizes and weights of packages sent by parcel post are greatly limited when they are sent either from or to a first-class post office.

EXPRESS. According to Scott, the present limitations on sizes and weights of parcel post packages were put into effect in an effort to keep the Post Office Department from competing with private express companies.

"But the total effect," Scott said, "has been to put merchants and their customers to a lot of inconvenience without giving any real assistance to private express companies."

Figures filed by the Railway Express Agency with the Interstate Commerce Commission show that the number of express shipments in less than carload lots has steadily decreased since the present law went into effect.

Meanwhile, it has been necessary to increase the rates charged on parcel post packages in order for the Post Office Department to break even on fourth-class mail operations.

FARMERS. The President's veto of the farm bill reminded a lot of Democrats of the story about two policemen who came across a man lying in an alley.

As one of the cops rolled over the body, he said to his buddy:

"Two of the wounds are fatal, but the other one ain't so bad."

SCIENTISTS. Russia is making every effort to beat the United States in the race of science.

By 1960, they plan to have four million new scientific specialists trained. By that time, their educational system will be on a 10-year compulsory basis.

These are grim facts when thought is given to the present situation in the United States.

For example, only 125 new physics teachers were graduated last year by American colleges and universities from our 28,000 high schools.

Farmers in North Carolina received a total cash income of $927,823,000 for agricultural commodities in 1954.

Tobacco Growers

Get best protection against WILDFIRE and BLUE MOLD with

Agri-Strep

When wildfire threatens your seed beds, you can get better results with Agri-Strep than with standard copper or Bordeaux sprays. AGRI-STREP is also highly effective in controlling and eradicating blue mold when accompanying wildfire. Here are 4 tested reasons why it will pay you to use AGRI-STREP:

1. Agri-Strep sprays are quickly absorbed by tobacco plants . . . work internally to kill germs without damaging the plants.
2. Agri-Strep contains only streptomycin—the one antibiotic that kills both wildfire bacteria and blue mold fungi.
3. Agri-Strep, used as directed, is non-toxic and does not corrode or clog sprayers.
4. Agri-Strep is recommended by many State Agricultural Experiment Stations.

Decide now to boost your profits with economical AGRI-STREP. Extensive commercial tests have proved that AGRI-STREP users get a full, healthy stand. Also on limited acreages, they can bring a bigger crop of better leaf into the barn. Come in today and get your supply. Available in bottles of 4½ ounces and in 25-pound drums.
