

SOCIETY PAIR SOUGHT IN MEXICO

AGENTS OF THE Federal Bureau of Investigation and their Mexican counterparts are seeking Mr. and Mrs. Walter Biddle Page (above), wealthy members of Boston society, who vanished in Mexico. The search was touched off by the discovery of their abandoned car in Cuernavaca, 50 miles south of Mexico City. Mrs. Page is the former Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the George H. Whitneys. Biddle is a scion of the Philadelphia "Mainliner" Biddle family. (Internationals)

MORE ABOUT Tourist

The Major Greets Them Major Stringfield was out to meet his guests—"Welcome! Welcome, folks to Waynesville and my resort; we hope to be able to make your stay here a pleasant one."

And pleasant it was — so much for the attractions here in that day, the solicitude of the management for the welfare of his guests, and the fine food.

And now, as shadows grow deep around Mt. Maria, a carriage party returns from one of the trips. Perhaps it was to Lickstone, to the foot of Old Bald—maybe Soco, or even Cataloochee. Sometime there would be two or three trips a day. And Wild Medford, hunter and oftentimes guide, is probably "some whar's" round about—dressed in coon-skin cap, rawhide hunting-shirt, and with his "bar" knife sticking from its belt. If so, he is doubtless entertaining a crowd with some of his "tall" hunting tales.

The "Caressing Breezes," etc. The new arrivals, having had a good rest—being "caressed by the benediction of cool mountain breezes" during the night, and after having had two bountiful meals, were now refreshed after their trip. They were ready for croquet on the broad lawn, mountain hikes or — what have you? And, to be sure, they would go down and at least taste of the sulphur water—with all its "health-giving properties." ("Pshaw!", they would say).

Meeting The Trains There are a few old timers left to recall those days; and the crowds (a little later on) at the depot—out to meet the trains. We seem to hear the whistle down below town—that so electrified the waiting crowds into hustle and delighted expectancy. In retrospect, we can hear again the porters, each one standing in front of his hotel carriage (with tasseled canopy top) beckoning as they solicited "trade", each for his own hotel. We remember J. K. Boone, Bill Leatherwood, H. S. Satterthwaite, Bill Gaddy, Pink Herron, the Loves, Stringfields, Fergusons, Smathers, Underwoods, Mark Killian, Steve Shelton, Drs. Allen, Way and Abel, Dave and John Boyd, R. A. Sentele, Mark Felmet, the Hyatts and many others.

Thus it went at "The Springs"—through the early years and on up until the time of World War I. Prior thereto, it seems, that the sulphur water began to lose some of its reputed "medicinal properties," or, at least, its renown. And the

Hazelwood Marine Sgt. Escorts Azalea Queen

NORFOLK, Va. — Marine Sgt. Bobby L. Troutman, son of Frank Troutman of Hazelwood, was an escort for Queen Azalea III, and her court during the Third Annual International Azalea Court and Festival April 9 through April 14 at Norfolk, Va.

The Queen, Miss Nell Eastland, daughter of Senator and Mrs. James O. Eastland of Mississippi, was met at the airport by an eight-man Marine Guard of Honor and welcomed to Norfolk. During the coronation ceremony and pageant the Marines escorted Miss Eastland, her princesses and maids of honor to the stage. The ceremony was viewed by an estimated 10,000 persons plus thousands more on television.

Troutman is serving with the Atlantic Fleet Marine Force at the Naval Base, Norfolk. Before entering the service in July, 1953, he attended Waynes-

Indian Reservation Is Described In Telephone Publication

Our neighbors in nine states will get a bit of information about the Cherokee Reservation along with their telephone bills this month.

The current issue of the Bell Tel News, distributed to Southern Bell's subscribers over a nine-state territory, summarizes the Indian reservation as follows:

"More than three thousand Cherokee Indians now inhabit the Qualla Boundary, a reservation of 50,000 acres near the North Carolina entrance to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Each year in the summer at Cherokee, N. C., the drama, "Unto These Hills," tells the colorful story of the Cherokee tribe."
