James Roosevelt Has Taken A Shine To Cats

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — James Roosevelt, California's new Democratic congressman says he never liked cats until his daughter who is allergic to them gave him her favorite pet to bring with him to Washington.

"I've grown quite fond of this cat," James told me at a Washington party. He said the cat was all that his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, said he was in one of her columns, "remarkably well educated and companionable." James looked sheepish when I asked him the cat's name. "My daughter named him Truman," he said with a grin, "she thought it was a good name because he was so fond of his Independence." James, who is already settled in a charming house in a quiet residential section of the capitol, says he hopes to add a dog soon to his household.

Do-It-Yourself Fans Sew Their Own Outfits

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor

It's more fun to do it yourself if you're dressed for the job, as any home handywoman can tell you.

Now that modern gals are as handy with a hammer as they are with a sewing machine, they are stitching up smart work-and-play outfits that make home carpentering fun.

Local sewing center experts suggest you buy a length of sturdy blue denim for the purpose and browse through the pattern books for styles to give this old favorite a new look. One such is a playsuit made from a pattern designed by Cole of California and incorporating such high-fashion notes as the semi-fitted line, hip emphasis and a wide neckline. The blue denim is trimmed in express-striped denim.

This outfit requires only two and a half yards of 35-inch fabric plus another yard of striped fabric for trim. Be careful to match the stripes perfectly on the yoke front, for a smart chevron effect. There are no buttons or buttonholes to worry about as the suit merely ties at the shoulder.

While you're at it, you might make a simple gathered skirt to match, of blue denim with a striped chevron patch pocket. You won't even need a pattern for this, and it will complete a useful outfit for many casual occasions.

FOR WORK OR PLAY . . . Blue denim outfit with striped trim, easy and quick to make at home.

He received his degree as Doctor of Dental Surgery from Emory University School of Dentistry and has been commissioned as a First Lieutenant in the Army Dental Corps.

Summer Fashions Need Modern Makeup

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

If you've been wondering why your new hat doesn't live up to your expectations, perhaps it's because of that old makeup.

You wouldn't dream of wearing fashion colors that were popular seasons ago. Why wear makeup that's been kicking around that long?

A new hat and fur stole for instance, certainly justify a new wardrobe of makeup. Most women now also include eye makeup in their regular makeup kit. It has become just as accepted as lipstick and fingernail polish.

The look for warm weather will be the regal one. The hair is short (in spite of what hairdressers have been plugging) and hats are large and ladylike. The silhouette is slim. Makeup is muted, except for the eyes, which seem to take more obvious decoration each year. The eye line may be just as apparent as you wish without causing undue comment.

The natural lipline is still with us, thank heavens. So lips will not cover the lower jaw or fall into an artificial rosebud for the rest of the season.

BLAZING BEAUTY . . . She's wearing a fiery hot pink lipstick that glows with brilliant color. It's right with new spring colors.

Lipstick shades are warm. Pink ones have more depth than ever before. One new shade, a pink fire, is said to be "pinker than red and redder than pink." That sums up the pinks—they're all aglow to new fashion colors from pink to coral red. Pink takes to navy, beige and gray too.

The lovely thing about pink is that it is becoming to young and old. It gives a youthful complexion a radiance and the older complexion a real lift. A new rose blush foundation is a lovely undertone of pink too for this time of the year.

When applying makeup, don't forget your neck. You'll find if you change to a new makeup skin tone shade your winter neck will show up like a totem pole unless you include it in when you apply foundation and powder.

It's just about time, too, to treat your neck to a good oil bath. Apply a special neck cream, nourishing cream or any other good cream to your neck each night until you've finally put it back in the smooth bracket. The after-winter neck takes a lot of hard work.

New Group Aids Families Of Washington Servicemen

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Military families moving to the nation's capital needn't fret over the problems facing most newcomers—where to get a baby sitter a tooth pulled, a sofa slip-cover made, a discount on an electric fan, or a place to board the family pet.

The Armed Forces Hostess Association, founded in 1949 to assist officers and their families in the Washington area, tries to supply the answers. Made up of volunteer Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard wives, the association maintains an office in the Armed Forces Service Center in the Pentagon. Its information files are available to all service men and their dependents.

Other subjects in the information files cover such items as schools and camps, doctors, furniture repair services, women's service club, where to get free legal advice, temporary housing, practical nurses, military uniforms and entertainment.

In addition, there's an overseas file, with information supplied in letters from wives in particular foreign assignment, and all the printed information the association can gather, and a zone of interior file, consisting of information pertinent to U.S. posts, bases and stations and their environs.

Mrs. Wayne L. Hunter, wife of an Army chaplain and president of the volunteer group, says the information center "expects the unusual." "We attempt to answer any reasonable request," she told me. "If information is not in our files, we try to get it some place else."

"We contact each incoming officer in the area and send a neighborhood hostess, of which we have about 600, to make an informal call on the family, both as a gesture of simple friendliness and to advise them of the information files available from the Pentagon office," Mrs. Hunter says.

The association also has luncheons, brunches, coffees and other social functions from time to time as a means of welcoming newcomers and some times to raise a little money for stamps and printed materials used at the information office. Biggest affair is the annual birthday luncheon in the spring. Mrs. Eisenhower was last year's and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, wife of the defense secretary, this year's honor guest.

New Tricks For Summer Hairdos

SOFT WAVES . . . The popular coiff of the moment has a duck-tail at nape of the neck.

BOUFFANT FULLNESS . . . It's wide over the left ear and temple for a new coiffure.

FROTHY RINGLETS . . . New salon dressing helps keep the hair intact in summer.

handful of women, even though it is a charming, ladylike coiffure when it is becoming.

These days even short-haired lasses may keep tresses 'salon-fresh' for a week or more, an asset during hatless summers and drives in convertible cars. Many beauty salons now feature a special service that they guarantee a smooth hair setting for quite a spell. It is neither a lacquer nor hair spray.

This new stickum is applied by the operator as a thin liquid when the hair is pincurled. The claim is that it penetrates the hair shaft, imparting a pliability and body to the hair—insurance against wind and humidity. Let's hope it works on windy days.

The time under the dryer is cut down by the new process, a boon to busy women. That is the most tedious part of a salon wave to most women, the only reason many women prefer coiffing their hair at home.

New summer hair styles are varied. Bouffant hairdos are popular. These have a pouf of side fullness that should appeal to thin-faced types. Upswept hairdos that stress frothy little ringlets have definite appeal for the young in heart as well as the mature woman. The unsophisticated halfdo—a lyrical pattern of soft waves, rhythmic continuity that is easy to keep, is likely to begin with a pompadour at the forehead and end up as a perky little duck tail at the nape of the neck.
