

COLORADOANS AND CAROLINIANS renewed acquaintances here Monday on the courthouse lawn as the Westerners arrived in the county via Soco Gap. The visitors were greeted by town and county representatives and then given refreshments. The group took a tour of Haywood County Tuesday, and visited the Champion Paper and Fibre Co. plant in Canton yesterday. (Mountaineer Photos).

'HOWDY PARTNERS' says Jonathan H. Woody, president of the First National Bank, as he welcomes a group of 42 4-H Club members and adult leaders from Weld County, Colorado, on their arrival here for a week's stay in Western North Carolina. Not exactly traditional for bankers, Mr. Woody's hat here was borrowed from a Coloradoan.

SHOWING OFF THEIR SOMBREROS, a group of 4-H boys from Weld County, Colorado, stretched their legs Monday afternoon after arriving in Waynesville to pay a return visit started last year when a group of Haywood 4-H'ers took Greeley's advice and went west. At left is Neal Kelly of Bethel, vice president of the North Carolina 4-H Council.

4-H Group On Tour Today To Cherokee, Mile High

Now in the fourth day of their week's stay in Western North Carolina, 42 members of the 4-H Club and adult leaders from Weld County, Colorado, left the courthouse this morning for a trip to the Indian Village at Cherokee, the Pioneer Homestead at the Oconaluftee Ranger Station at the eastern entrance to the Smokies, and Mile-High Overlook on the Blue Ridge Parkway.

This evening the Westerners will be guests of Jonathan H. Woody at a barbecue supper at his home—with the meal to be prepared by Rufus Siler.

Tomorrow the group will visit the Biltmore Estate and have a ride on the boat "Cherokee" on Lake Junaluska. Saturday there'll be swimming at 4-H Club Camp Schaub and a farewell banquet in the evening in the camp's dining hall.

Sunday, following a devotional service at the cross at Lake Junaluska, to be conducted by the Rev. John Kizer of Hazelwood Baptist Church, the Coloradoans will start their trip home.

The visitors arrived in Haywood County via Soco Gap and were greeted by a motorcade and escorted to the courthouse for an official welcome, distribution of material on North Carolina, and refreshments on the courthouse lawn.

On Tuesday, the Colorado group was taken for a tour of Haywood County to see a number of 4-H

Saving By Spending

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Chairman Roger W. Hart of the board of education says Fairfield can save money by spending money to build new schools. He told fellow board members that if five schools here are replaced with new buildings, the annual maintenance cost will be cut by $145,000.

Club projects and some of the county's outstanding farms.

Yesterday, they toured the Champion Paper and Fibre Co. plant at Canton, then traveled to the Wagon Road-Beech Gap section of the Blue Ridge Parkway.

After a picnic supper in the Pink Beds recreation area of Pisgah National Forest, the group returned to Haywood County—some members later attending the Jaycees square dance on the courthouse parking lot.

Rhododendron, Flame Azalea Are Now In Full Bloom

Purple rhododendron and flame azalea should both be in full bloom this week along the Blue Ridge Parkway, according to the prediction of District Ranger Robert E. Howe.

The rhododendron will give a very good show on the section between Wagon Road Gap and Beech Gap. Graveyard Fields should have their best show about June 22 and be very good through the next weekend.

Flame azalea is now in good display along the Soco-Mile High section and should be at its peak about June 21. The show is especially good in the Wolf Laurel Gap area.
