Salads Are A Summer Tonic

On a hot, summer day, nothing adds pep and vitality like a cool meal. The psychological effects of serving a cold salad contribute to more meal enjoyment.

S. Virginia Wilson says that in pepping up your everyday meals with salads, they add sparkle to your health. Salads are easy to make, add interest to meals, and offer a tasty way of getting health-giving vitamins and minerals.

Miss Wilson asks "Could you ask for a more pleasant way to get the fruits and vegetables you need daily?" To "perk up" a meal the salad itself must look and taste the part. You need follow only a few simple rules to do this.

An expert salad maker uses one-fourth common sense and three-fourths imagination to make salads that are works of art.

Miss Wilson recommends this salad for eye appeal and taste appeal.

FRESH VEGETABLE SALAD BOWL

- 4 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 cup shredded cabbage
- 1/2 cup shredded raw beets
- 1/2 cup shredded raw carrots
- 1/2 cup raw cauliflower
- 1/4 cup onion
- 1 cup chopped celery and leaves
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- French dressing

Slice hard-cooked eggs. Remove yolks and put through a sieve. Mix cabbage, beets, carrots, onion, cauliflower, celery and egg whites in salad bowl. Pour French dressing over these and toss lightly. Garnish with cheese and egg yolk.

Fall Fashions Are Formal; Show End To Tomboy Era

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

COME OUT of that slouch, girls! Pin up your back hair, lift your chin and prepare to be a lady in the fall.

You can't indulge in the careless look if you're going to wear the new fall fashions. They are strictly for careful girls, who mind their manners, watch their posture, keep their figures in trim and never forget their hat and gloves.

There's a new elegance and formality in the fall fashion picture, with dresses carefully cut and carefully fitted, with hats big and important, with full-length evening gowns back in style, with clothes planned for definite occasions.

You can't get by in your office dress at a cocktail party next winter, for instance, and you'll change for the theater or for going out to dinner. For the big dance you'll wear a long dress, with maybe a coordinated long evening coat, if you can afford it.

You'll wear a more elaborate hairdo, and top it with a more elegant hat. You'll be careful of your makeup and your manicure, and you'll never go out with crooked stocking seams.

For there definitely is a new mood in fashion — a ladylike mood, an end to the tomboy era. Probably manners will grow more formal, along with fashions, and people may even use calling cards again.

Suits are short-jacketed, usually with unaccented waistlines and Empire feeling. Skirts are slim, sometimes with panel backs or low-placed back interest.

Fabrics are rich and handsome, with new importance directed toward velvets and satins, laces and embroideries, metallic brocades and heavy silks. For suits there are cloud-light tweeds and other woolsens, sometimes blended with silk. Coat fabrics also show a new elegance, with a new restraint in texture, often with fur collar, cuffs or border.

It is the beginning of a new era, when fashion looks backward.

HARVEY BERIN . . . Ladylike look in gray tissue tweed dress, Scissor overskirt, braid trim.

CEIL CHAPMAN . . . Nostalgic white satin sheath embroidered in bulge beads and rhinestones.

OLEG CASSINI . . . Horsy look in a saddle tan corduroy sheath with brass-buttoned plastron.

GEORGE CARMEL . . . Back panels distinguish a fall suit with belt laced through brass-buttoned tabs.

Garlic powder is the ground dehydrated product of garlic cloves. Garlic salt is a mixture of garlic powder and table salt; sometimes a starch is added to help prevent caking during storage.

Boil tiny new potatoes in their skins, then peel, douse with butter and turn into a serving dish. Spoon cooked buttered green peas over the potatoes. Good with hamburgers or meat loaf.
