Lasses Wear Glasses For Beauty, Too

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

'Tis true that time was when eyeglasses were considered eyesores. But those days are gone forever. As a matter of fact, eyeglasses have become so colorful, interesting and chic that many girls try to find an excuse for wearing them.

The average young girl would

Twenty-five guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Ferguson and their daughter Esther Lee of Detroit, Mich., are here for a few days with Mr. Ferguson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Ferguson.

rather wear eyeglasses than risk crows feet at the corners of her eyes, and that as a sign of the times.

It's just as important to choose the right eyeglass frames for your type as it is to select proper make-up, clothes styles and coiffure, however, says beauty consultant Carol Douglas. She explains:

"Itty bitty frames look perfectly silly on great big girls. Ditto the large, thick-rimmed eyeglasses that some tiny girls wear. Frames should give the illusion of width or slenderness to a face, but not overwhelm it or dwarf it."

If you have an oval or heart-shaped face, oval lenses are usually the best style for your type, she advises. Harlequin frames are well-suited to square faces and round faces alike, giving them sort of an uptilt effect. Lenses should be large enough to include the entire eye. Frames should be equal to or wider than the face at the cheekbone.

You can integrate the entire picture by choosing vivid lipstick, carrying your rouge up and following the upswipt lines of the eyeglasses, although color should not be extended under the lenses. At date-time, mascara on the eyelashes and a touch of eye-shadow on the lids is helpful to glamorizing eyeglasses.

The popular hairstyle beloved by young moderns is one that involves deep waves and soft curls, ideal with eyeglasses, says Miss Douglas. The coil must be kept neat and chic if the eyeglasses are to look trim, and the short hairdo helps. Another hairdo that is smart with eyeglasses is the neat combed-back-into-a-small-bun style that is popular with teen-agers with petite features. As long as there are no straggly ends, you'll be in beauty harmony above the chinline.
