ELECTION LAWS

What is the difference between a primary election and a general election?

A primary election is a means whereby members of a political party select by ballot candidates or nominees for office; whereas a general election is a means whereby officers are elected and public offices are filled according to established rules of law. In short, a primary election is merely a mode of choosing candidates of political parties, whereas a general election is the final choice of all the people qualified to vote.

A general election is sometimes called the "regular election." Primary elections are held in North Carolina on the last Saturday in May. General elections are held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

During what hours must one cast his vote?

In all primary and general elections in North Carolina, the polls open at 6:30 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. However, in voting precincts where voting machines are used, the board of elections of such county may permit the polls to close at 7:30 p.m.

What are the residence requirements for voting?

The voter must have resided in North Carolina for one year and in the precinct, ward, or other election district in which he offers to vote thirty days next preceding the election. Provided, that removal from one precinct, ward or other election district to another in this State shall not operate to deprive any person of the right to vote in the precinct, ward or other election district from which such person has removed until thirty days after such removal.

Only those persons who have previously registered are entitled to vote.

How are presidential electors for the political parties selected in North Carolina?

mary elections. They are nominated in a State convention of each political party, unless otherwise provided by the plan of organization of such political party. Their names are filed with the Secretary of State for North Carolina.

The names of candidates for electors of President and Vice-President do not even appear on the ballot in the November general election. In place of their names there appears on the ballot the names of the candidates for President and Vice-President of the political parties.

How many presidential electors does North Carolina have?

In national elections of the President and Vice-President of the United States each State is allowed an electoral vote equal to the number of Senators and Representatives in Congress to which the State is entitled. This means that North Carolina has 14 electoral votes.

MIDGETS' NORMAL BABY GROWING

JOSEPH MILANO, who stands 4 feet 7, and his wife, who is 3 feet 7, are shown in Cleveland with their three-week-old daughter, Mary Ann, who is not only a normal child but is fast outgrowing them both. Mary Ann weighed 4 pounds 7 ounces at birth and has now reached 5 pounds and 2 ounces. They're happy about it. (International)

About 500,000 aged persons are now being cared for in institutions, even though most older people live at home.

Assertion Of Freedom

ANDREWS, S. C. (AP)—Andrews asserted freedom from solicitations, donations and all charity drives recently.

"No Donation Week" was proclaimed by Mayor W. H. Smith in a move backed by merchants and businessmen. Citizens were called on "to desist from solicitations" for the seven days.

"Private citizens of Andrews have been solicited, entreated, cajoled and coerced into making contributions and donations without surcease since the time of the founding of our fair city and citizens desire seven days' respite," the proclamation said.

Look, No Lake!

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Rainy Lake in Presque Isle County does a disappearing act, almost as if somebody had pulled its plug.

At intervals the lake in northeastern Michigan nearly disappears through an underground channel, like bath water down a drain.

Geologists say the water seeps down into an underground limestone cavern. The lake fills up again when mud and silt accumulate to plug crevices in its bed.
