

Memorial Marker Unveiling To Be Held At Beech Gap

A program of the unveiling of a memorial marker honoring 149,000 North Carolina Confederate Veterans, at Beech Gap on the Parkway, has been announced by Mrs. A. T. St. Amand, state president of the U.D.C., Mrs. Roy Cagle, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. J. P. Quarles, president of the N. C. Society Daughters of the American Colonists, Mrs. C. K. Proctor, state governor of the N. C. Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims, and Mrs. R. N. Barber, representing the Daughters of 1812 and the Dames of the Court of Honor, will each bring greetings from their respective organizations.

Mrs. St. Amand, state president of the U.D.C. will present and dedicate the marker. The unveiling will be by Mrs. Barber and Sarah Thomas, accepting the custody of the marker will be Sam Weems, superintendent of the Blue Ridge Parkway and Donald Morris of the Pisgah National Forest. After the placing of the memorial flowers and a song, the closing prayer will be by Mrs. John V. Erskine of Asheville.

Mrs. Barber has suggested that those not familiar with mountain roads should drive out the Pigeon Road to Wagon Road Gap and then to Beech Gap, which is all paved road. For others, who wish to make the trip ten miles shorter, by Lake Logan, H. C. Wilburn will be at the Baptist Church parking lot at 1:15 p.m. to lead the way.

Mrs. Barber also announced that

COOKING FOR TWO

The romantic strains of "I'd Like to Love a Little While" you are faced with the reality of preparing for just two for two out there again. It means a lot, however, the secret of saving yourself is still there in your inventory of your kitchen. You can do it with a few simple tricks. You can avoid the loss of your good family by preparing, cooking, the two sets of products.

As with all meat preparation, advance planning is the key. Don't wait until 10:00 o'clock to get the meat to have for dinner at 6:00. Don't wait until 10:00 to get the side of two appetizers. The 1 1/2 pound cooked ham, which can be stored without refrigeration, is hard to keep on hand for quick meals. Broiled steaks, served with canned corn and garnished with jelly-wine pear halves, make a pretty and satisfying dinner. With meat left to cook for company with noodles in a casserole later in the week and enough smaller pieces to mince or shred and add to many scrambled eggs for breakfast one morning.

In executing these double-duty dishes, space the menus so that you're not serving the same kind of meat two or three days in a row. With today's fine refrigerator and freezer facilities, there's no excuse for the inevitable "roast-today-and-bash-tomorrow" type of eating. Cover cooked meat tightly or wrap it in waxed paper or foil, and store in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Cut or grind only when ready to use.

With main dishes built around satisfying meat dishes, desserts can be extremely simple. Fruit and cheese is especially adapted to meals for two.

Two Washington Women Mistaken For Grace Kelly

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — For many months now, two of the town's leading socialites, blonde, serenely beautiful, elegant of dress and manner, have been causing some who don't know them to do a double-take, even ask them for their autographs.

They look so much like actress Grace Kelly.

One is young Mrs. Stanley Rumbough, Jr., who actually is being talked of as successor to the internationally famous, Oscar-winning Hollywood star who became the bride of Prince Ranier of Monaco. Using the stage name of Dina Merrill, she is already successfully launched on a TV theatrical career.

Mrs. Rumbough is the former Nadina Hutton, daughter of the fabulously wealthy Mrs. Marjorie Meriwether Post. Her husband, a former White House staffer, now is an industrialist.

Mother of three children, Lee, 8, David, 6, and Nina, 3, Dina makes her home in nearby Bethesda, Md., and commutes by plane to New York for her TV performances. She has always wanted to be on the stage and began her career about the same time Grace Kelly did, in the late '40s, by touring in USO shows and playing in professional stock companies in the East.

The other Kelly look-alike is the lovely wife of the Belgian ambassador, Baroness Robert Silvercruys. She says on a cross-country trip she made with her husband couple of years ago she was often stopped by bobby-soxers asking for her autograph. She says she didn't disappoint them. She just signed "Grace Kelly."

The baroness wears her long golden hair brushed back from her perfectly-featured face into a thick bun. Both she and Mrs. Rumbough have made Washington's best-dressed lists. The Washington-born former Rosemary Turner was first married in 1940 to the late Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) and has a daughter by this marriage. A
