(Continued from page 1) launched some months ago by the joint efforts of the Haywood Community Development Program and the Haywood Medical Society, has received a number of letters from various sources, congratulating the leaders and the entire county on sponsoring such a program.

BY NOON WEDNESDAY all the seats in the left section of the Waynesville Township High School auditorium and half of those on the right had been removed by workmen to make way for the conversion of the structure into classrooms. The project will convert the auditorium and old library into a new library, audio-visual room, study hall, and five classrooms.

(Continued from page 1) ments are also being made at our Ohio and Texas Divisions. Our stockholders have authorized us to invest up to $15,000,000 in our company-wide modernization and timberland acquisition program during the current fiscal year.

The new paper machine at the Carolina Division is expected to be completed some time in 1959, and will increase the daily production of paper at the Canton plant by 350 tons. Present production of paper and paperboard averages 700 tons a day.

No. 20 machine will be built to produce a continuous sheet of paper 220 inches wide at speeds up to 2,000 feet a minute. It will be classified as one of the largest machines in the world for the manufacture of white papers.

A 2-story building with 124,000 square feet of floor space will be built to house the machine, and an attached 4-story building with 53,000 square feet of floor space will be constructed to house the machine's stock preparation equipment. Space will be included in the machine building for the possible installation of a sister machine in the future.

Old buildings on the north side of the plant, which formerly housed equipment for the extraction of tannic acid from chestnut wood, will be razed to make room for the new machine building.

At one time the "old extract plant" was the largest single unit in the world for the production of tannin, but was shut down in 1951 after the nationwide chestnut blight removed the source of raw material.

Planned revisions and additions of equipment in the pulp production departments of the Carolina Division of Champion will result in a daily increase of 150 tons of pulp, boosting the total pulp output to 1,100 tons a day.

New installations will include an additional drum for removing the bark from hardwoods, two additional digesters for cooking

Turner of Waynesville.

There will also be horses from Asheville, Black Mountain, Newton, and Camden, S. C.

pulpwood chips, and additions to the causticizing system for the preparation of cooking liquors used in the digesters.

Construction of a new system for washing, screening and bleaching pine pulp is already under way.

One unit of a new chlorine dioxide bleaching system is now in production, and installation of a second unit is in progress for bleaching pulp whiter than ever before.

Production of chlorine, basic chemical for bleaching pulp, will be boosted from the present rate of 70 tons a day to 85 tons a day through the addition of 40 electrolytic cells.

Also planned in the expansion program will be the alteration of some office space in the plant, and the construction of extensive locker room facilities for employees.

More than 30 per cent of life insurance policyholders in the U. S. today are children under the age of 18.

Old Fort Henry in Ontario was built in the 1880's to repel a possible U. S. invasion. Now it is a principal attraction for U. S. Tourists.

Surviving besides the mother are one sister, Miss Betty Ashe of Canton Route 3; three half-sisters, Rose Mary, Martha June and Rebecca Reagan, all of Hazelwood; three half-brothers, David, Ronald and Roy, also of Hazelwood; the maternal grandparents, George and Mattie Carver of Canton Route 3, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Dan Ashe of Brevard.

Arrangements are under direction of Crawford Funeral Home of Waynesville.

Cup Of Tea Is 'Woman's Best Friend'

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — A cup of tea is a woman's best friend if she is a stranger at a party says a Washington hostess whose courses in fashion and manners at Southeastern University here have attracted many of the capital's official wives and daughters over the past few years.

Mrs. Gladstone Williams, director of the university's popular finishing and modeling school, advises newcomers to the party-front to head for the tea table when they find themselves at loose ends.

"Aside from giving a person something to do with his hands, a cup of tea can provide an opener in conversation with others," says Mrs. Williams, who with her journalist husband, entertains many of the town's bigwigs in her own home. "You never feel alone as you walk up to examine a painting, or glance over books and bibelots on the hostess's shelves."

Women of background, good manners and training often are stymied by the rules and regulations governing entertaining here," she points out. "There's the problem of rank, the recognizing of one person's importance compared to that of another. In the diplomatic circles there's the consideration of customs, tastes and form of many different nationalities."

To best demonstrate these idiosyncracies, Mrs. Williams gives teas, receptions and dinners in her own chic home. Students are urged to forget their own identity and take on the role of honored and distinguished guests as well as those of maid, butler or footman to get a working idea of what is expected of each at a given affair.

The business of protocol is only one phase of the course, which has graduated 2,500 since starting in 1947. Students also learn self-confidence, how to walk, sit, stand, enter a room, keep a conversation going; how to dress, use makeup, correct figure faults, set a dinner table, plan a menu and train a servant, how to eat an artichoke and handle a fingerbowl.

Classes are limited to 128 a semester and are open to all ages from 13 to 60. Next year's classes are already filled.

In the last half of 1956, meat production is expected to fall below the 1955 level because of the reduced spring pig crop.
