New Hamburger For Backyard Supper

HAMBURGERS AND FIXINGS — Served with iced tea.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

WE'VE INVENTED A HAMBURGER

Tasters have given it their blessings and naturally we're prejudiced in its favor. Our inspiration for the hamburger came from the Italian way of serving roasted, sweet red peppers and anchovies together. If you are partial to these two foods, do try this recipe.

OUR OWN HAMBURGERS

Ingredients: 1 pound ground beef chuck, 4 whole canned pimientos (drained), 8 caper-rolled anchovies, salt, pepper.

Method: Make 8 flat matching-size patties of the beef; each should be about 4 inches in diameter. Place a pimiento in the center of 4 of the patties; tuck 2 anchovies into each pimiento. Cover with 4 remaining patties and seal edges well with fingers so hamburgers look plump and are about 3 inches in diameter. Grill over charcoal or in a little butter in a skillet to desired doneness. Sprinkle both sides of hamburgers with salt and pepper during cooking.

Note: There are usually 4 to 5 pimientos in a 4-ounce can and about 12 caper-rolled anchovies in a 2-ounce can.

We like these hamburgers served with well-buttered toast but otherwise unembellished. But if you are planning to cook and serve them outdoors, you may wish to offer them with hamburger rolls, slices of tomato and onion and pickles.

A portable charcoal grill is fine for outdoor hamburger cooking. A matching insulated jug, with a pumping unit, can hold iced tea. Just push the rubber bulb on the jug when you are ready to serve and the tea will issue forth. No lifting, tilting or pouring!

ICED TEABAG TEA

Put 18 teabags in a container. Bring 1 quart of water in a saucepan (do not cover) to a rolling boil. Pour boiling water over teabags and brew 5 minutes; stir. Remove teabags and add to tea to 1 quart cold water. Add sugar and lemon to taste. Serve over ice cubes.

Hearing Delayed For Flasher Of Worthless Checks

The hearing set for Wednesday for Peter F. Edward, charged with passing worthless checks, was postponed because of the inability of his lawyer to get here from Winston-Salem.

Sheriff Fred Y. Campbell said Edward is charged with passing seven worthless checks here. He is being held in jail on the charges.

Several other cities in this and nearby states have similar warrants, according to Sheriff Campbell. The FBI also have a charge against the man for impersonating an officer. Sheriff Campbell said Edward is charged with making an after dinner speech at a service club in Galax, Va., posing as an FBI agent.

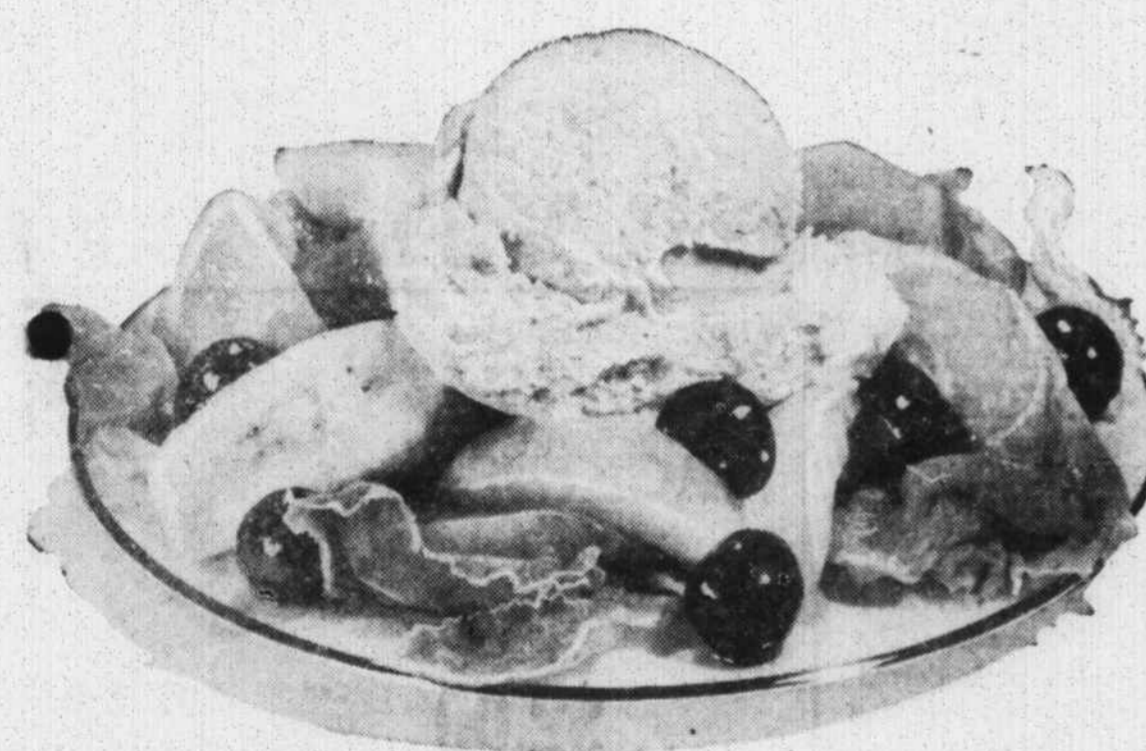

Edward told here he was a naval officer, and en route to Annapolis as an instructor at the Naval Academy. Sheriff Campbell said he learned the man had served for a time in the Army and was a former carnival worker.
