Working Out Details Of Food Insurance Program Will Take Several Weeks

By SENATOR SAM ERVIN
WASHINGTON—The period for planning how to handle the new flood insurance program will probably continue for several weeks, the Housing & Home Finance Agency has advised me.

With the hurricane season here, I had hoped that the new program could be worked out promptly, but the Housing and Home Finance Agency says that it involves so many complicated and difficult problems that the long delay has been required.

PROVISIONS

The Federal Flood Insurance Act of 1956 authorizes the HHFA to undertake three related operations:

1. Issue insurance to indemnify losses from flood and tidal waters up to a maximum of $250,000 for any one person, and $10,000 for any dwelling unit.

2. Re-insure private companies who undertake to write flood insurance on a private basis.

3. Contract to underwrite or make loans for the rehabilitation or reconstruction of approved properties lost or damaged in floods to assure an adequate line of credit for this purpose when it is most needed.

The HHFA expects to utilize the services of private insurance carriers to the fullest degree possible in making this new protection available, according to the statement from that agency, That was the intent of Congress in passing the Act.

PUBLIC WILL BE TOLD

Just as soon as the HHFA comes up with their planning for administering the flood insurance program, I will see that the public is informed of proper steps to take. I hope that this information will be presented forthwith from the agency. As a matter of information for you, the Federal Flood Insurance Act of 1956 is Public Law 1016, 84th Congress.

SESSION COMPARED

The first session of the 84th Congress ran from January 5 through August 2, 1955; the second session lasted from January 3 through July 27, 1956. It required 11,330 pages in the Congressional Record to record the proceedings of the first session; the second session required 13,960 pages.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Ernest Blockman was arrested and charged with theft of scrap metal from his place of employment over a three-year period.

His place of employment was the county penal farm.

The Younger Set AT W.T.H.S.

PATSY CLARK — Editors — NANCY NOLAN

Well, the summer has finally ended and we are all back at good old W.T.H.S. I think we all had an enjoyable summer and are ready to settle down to work.

The conversion of the old auditorium into classrooms is causing some inconvenience at present, but the work should be completed soon.

Officers have been elected at W.T.H.S. for the Student Council and the four classes.

Tom Garrett is the new president of the Student Council, Bruce Davis is vice president, Carolyn Ratcliffe is secretary, and Vernon Browning is treasurer.

Senior class officers are: Carroll Hooper, president; Verlin Edwards, vice president; Libby Smathers, secretary, and David Hardwick, treasurer.

Jack Holder, president; Leona Davis, vice president; Joyce Coward, secretary, and Nancy Phillips, treasurer.

Freshman class officers are: Ronnie Gribble, president; Woodrow Davis, vice president; Judy Smiley, secretary, and Judy Ferguson, treasurer.

We have confidence in these students and believe they will do a good job.

The Sub-Deb Club had its first meeting of the new term and planned a schedule of activities.

Friday morning the first pep session will be held by the new cheerleaders: Linda Rhinehart, Linda Jones, Nancy Nolan, Arbie Turner, Kyle Edwards, Hugh Moody, and Henry Jenkins. We hope this pep session will arouse the football spirit for the coming season.

The student body wishes to express its sympathy to the J. C. Patrick family. Mrs. Patrick served faithfully for many years at W.T.H.S.

for services rendered.

What happens to the property of a person who dies without a will?

After the debts and funeral expenses of the decedent are paid, the balance is distributed in accordance with a rigid formula prescribed by the General Assembly. In other words, if you have not seen fit to make a will, the law will dispose of your property for you. This disposition may not be in accordance with your desires.

The failure to make a will may bring hardships and added expense for your immediate family or those that are closest to you. Occasionally a portion or all that a person owns will go to a distant relative that never knew the decedent.

The "interstate laws", which provides for the disposition of the property of persons who have not left a will, are not the same in all states. They are changed from time to time in North Carolina.

Is it cheaper to die without a will?

No. The administrator of an estate without a will has limited powers of action, whereas an executor may be given broad powers of action which will effect a substantial saving to the estate. A carefully drawn will can and often does reduce taxes and other expenses.

What is a codicil?

A codicil is a written document that amends or changes on existing valid will. It will be executed with all the formality required by a will.

Home-Made Cakes, Cookies Top Servicemen's Wants

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The biggest lure attracting Capitol Hill secretaries to spend their hard-earned vacation in Florida after the national conventions is not the sunshine and seashore, but the promise of "eligible young men."

This species, so rare around Washington, has been lined up to greet about 60 members of the Congressional Secretaries Club on their arrival in Miami — with orchids, yet — according to Rep. Dante B. Fascell (D-Fla.)

The eligibles, mostly members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, are also planning to entertain the girls.

American servicemen overseas, already thinking about Christmas, have told American Red Cross field workers they want home-baked cakes and cookies most of all in their packages from home. The Post Office here advises such packages must be in the mail before Oct. 15. The men also want such things as airmail stationery and stamps, ballpoint and fountain pens, recordings of new tunes and tape recordings of the family's greetings. Postal money orders are welcome in Europe — money orders by men in the Caribbean.

Civil Air Patrol escorts from the 22 foreign nations participating in the International Cadet Exchange program were given a warm welcome in their own languages by Mrs. Lucas Beau, who with her husband, Maj. Gen. Beau, chairman of the exchange, hosted a party in their honor during their visit here. Mrs. Beau, the former Mrs. Lawrence Steinhardt, became facile in the languages while the late Mr. Steinhardt was serving as American ambassador to Russia, Sweden, Turkey, Czechoslovakia, Canada and Denmark.

This Is The LAW

By ROBERT E. LEE (For The N. C. Bar Association)

NEED OF A WILL

What is a will? A will is a written document in which you state who is to own your property after your death. By it you name the persons whom you wish to benefit or protect. An executor is named in it to collect your assets, pay your creditors and funeral expenses, and in general to wind up and settle your estate. If you make a will, you may to a very large extent designate just how your property is to be used after your death. You may, for example, give the use or income of property to your wife for the term of her life and upon her death the absolute ownership to any one or all of your children.

What is the difference between an executor or administrator?

An executor is the person a testator has named in his will as the one he wants to administer his estate. An executor is not generally required to give a bond. This is because the testator must have had confidence in the honesty and integrity of the person or else he would not have selected and named him.

An administrator is a person appointed by the clerk of the superior court to administer the estate of a decedent when there is no will. He may also be a person appointed by the clerk of the superior court when there is no executor named in the will or the person named in the will has died, resigned, or is incompetent. An administrator is required to give a bond.

Both an executor and an administrator receive a commission
