State Group To Meet Here To Discuss Family Courts

Waynesville will be the scene on Thursday, October 25 of one of the series of eight meetings to be held throughout the State to help determine the requirements of a State system of family courts as recommended by the Governor's Youth Service Commission.

This meeting, which will be held in the Superior Court Room will be sponsored by the Commission as a part of the survey being conducted for the Commission by the National Probation and Parole Association.

Nat S. Crews, chairman of the Commission, stated in the announcement of the meetings that one of the members of the Commission would preside and any interested person would be welcome in addition to the especially invited persons. Mrs. W. T. Carpenter, Lenoir, a Commission member will preside at the Waynesville meeting. Tully L. McCreary, Austin, Texas, field consultant will represent the National Probation and Parole Association.

The Youth Service Commission was created by an Act of the 1955 General Assembly and the members were appointed by Governor Luther H. Hodges. The Commission's purpose is to advise the Governor on matters relating to the prevention, control, and treatment of juvenile delinquency in North Carolina.

Special invitations have been sent out to persons who have official responsibility in the area of juvenile and domestic relations courts and child welfare. Others are included who have special interest in or official responsibility for law enforcement, judicial action, or probation services relating to families and children or to young offenders now under the jurisdiction of the criminal courts. The meeting will be open to the public and all interested persons are invited, Chairman Crews said.

Representatives of the National Probation and Parole Association who will participate on the programs in the series of meetings are: Frederick Ward, Jr., Austin, Texas, southern director of the association; Lawrence A. Edwards, Anniston, Ala., special consultant; Tully L. McCreary, Austin, Texas, field consultant; and Francis H. Hiller, New York City, field consultant.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m.

Smokies Ranger Transferred To Mammoth Cave

The National Park Service has announced the transfer and promotion of Granville B. Liles from the position of chief ranger, Great Smoky Mountains National Park, to the newly established position of assistant superintendent of Mammoth Cave National Park, Kentucky.

Liles has been chief ranger of the Smokies since January, 1953. Prior to that date he served as Chief Ranger of Shenandoah National Park and Mammoth Cave National Park and assistant chief ranger of the Blue Ridge Parkway. He entered the National Park Service as a ranger on the Blue Ridge Parkway in 1940 after having served as landscape technician with the Bureau of Public Roads on the Parkway for two years. Before joining the National Park Service, Liles worked with the U. S. Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service, and the Aluminum Company of America. He is a native of Peachland, N. C., and attended Louisburg College.

Liles is married and has four children. His daughter is a student at the University of Tennessee and he has a son at Cornell University. The other two sons are in elementary school. The Liles are expected to transfer to Kentucky early in November.

Federal Flood Insurance Act Ready By December (?)

WASHINGTON — I wrote in a recent column about the delay in working out complete details for handling the Federal Flood Insurance Act by the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Federal Government.

TARGET DATE
By SENATOR SAM ERVIN

I am now advised by HHFA that the tentative target date for announcing full plans for administering the new program is December of this year.

It was my strong hope that details could be completed in time to afford the public some protection during the current hurricane season. HHFA says it has been diligently threshing out the many details and that the delay has been necessary.

As you recall, Congress passed the Flood Insurance Act in the closing hours of the last session. The urgency of its adoption was strengthened by the memory of hurricane and flood disasters of which Tarheels have an all too fresh experience.

TIME OUT
While taking time out in North

Carolina during the Congressional recess, I have had an opportunity to visit in numerous counties. I believe this to be the best method for a person to get close to his constituents, learn their views, and to shake off that terrible malady that has been known to strike politicians, namely the so-called Potomac fever. As for me I never find any difficulty getting away from Washington. To remain here all of the time is to lose perspective. A brisk speaking schedule up and down North Carolina is a task, but a pleasant one. It is far more enjoyable to mingle with the people back home than to follow the rigors of a Congressional session.

NEWS SOURCES

Committee hearings in recent weeks have provided excellent news sources for Washington's reporters who have to dig for the news during the Congressional recess.

On Capitol Hill it is feast or famine with reporters. During the sessions of Congress they are on a treadmill of activity, frequently

Too Many

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Too many cats to move to California prompted Miss Agnes Heinzmann to give away 46 Siamese felines.

"What has happened to me fulfills an old legend in Siam," she said.

The story goes that those who own Siamese cats will face economic ruin.

"Well, these cats have just about broken me," she said sadly. "They

JUDGE PARKER

President Eisenhower, as this is being written, has not stated his choice for the vacancy on the Supreme Court of the United States. He has indicated that he prefers the naming of a Federal Judge from one of the circuits. I believe this should be done. I hope that he will see fit to nominate John J. Parker of Charlotte, a jurist who has served with distinction. It is to be assumed that the President will name a member of his political party to the bench; he should name Judge Parker. The Supreme Court sorely needs jurists, not any more inexperienced men selected solely for their political manifestations.

"Does your mattress need artificial respiration?"
—asks Don Herold

MOST every mattress has those little ventilators on the side. But you'd be surprised how many of these ventilators are fakes. That's why so many mattresses get musty and stale inside. They need fresh air. Don't you?

Beautyrest Mattresses have ventilators that really ventilate. They let the Beautyrest breathe—and breathe deep. In goes the fresh air—out comes the stale air! That's why Beautyrest stays so dry, so clean, so sanitary inside.
