934 Drunken Drivers Lost Drivers' Licenses In Sept.

The Motor Vehicles Department took action on 934 drunk drivers in September, withdrawing their legal driving privileges for twelve months or adding further penalties for repeaters.

The September summary of license revocable traffic offenses included two drunk drivers convicted of their fifth offense.

Speeders, customarily second in the monthly summary, came in with 685 convictions and a consequent loss of driving rights.

The vehicles agency listed most speeders in the over 70 mph class.

Regulations require a 30 day suspension for speeding over 70 in a passenger car, the department said.

Other convictions reported during the month included driving after license withdrawn, two counts of reckless driving, transporting intoxicants, hit and run, manslaughter, and incompetency.

All told the September accounting of license revocations and suspensions came to 2176.

This compares with 2228 for September of last year.

Fishy Story

ELV, Minn. (AP)—Guide Ernie Landgren picked up a daily double the easy way. While one of his guests was reeling in a whitefish a big 10-pound northern pike clamped his jaws on the hooked fish.

The pike was persistent. He stayed with the white fish until both reached the boat. Landgren calmly swooped both in with a net.
